Woodfield bus service set by RTA

by LYNN ASINOF

Regional bus service between downtown Des Plaines and Woodfield Shopping Center, Schaumburg, is scheduled to begin June 1, awaiting formal approval by the Regional Transportation Authority.

RTA officials Monday announced the new route, which will run from the Des Plaines train station along Northwest Highway and Golf Road.

The new route is considered an important part of the suburban bus network because it extends RTA bus service through Rolling Meadows to Schaumburg. The route also will pass through Mount Prospect and Arlington Heights.

THE ROUTE IS designed to connect with the Chicago and North Western Ry., as well as bus routes to Evanston Randhurst Shopping Center in Mount Prospect, Wheeling and Des Plaines intra-city routes.

On weekdays buses will run every half hour from 6 a.m. to 7 p.m. On weekends service will be hourly. The fare will be 50 cents, and transfers will be available for 10 cents.

The route is estimated to cost $170,000 annually and will be operated by the North Suburban Mass Transit RTA officials originally planned the regional route to run from Schaumburg to Evanston along Golf Road.

BRIAN CUDAHY, RTA marketing director, said the agency recently decided it would be more practical to connect the route with the existing Dempster Street service between Des Plaines and Evanston.

"We tood a look at Golf Road and decided there were just too many forest preserves and things," Cudahy

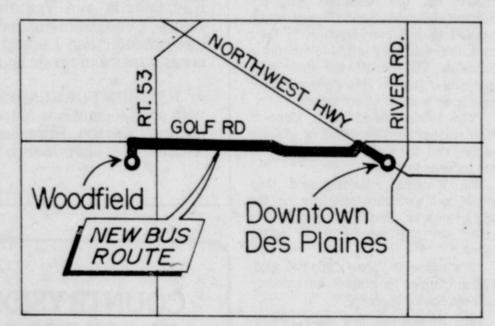

Cudahy said the route eventually may extend west to Elgin, but said no expansion is planned in the immediate

THE NEW ROUTE is one of several being started this spring because of recent budget changes. RTA is emphasizing commuter service to railroads as it expands suburban service.

Two commuter feeder routes are now in operation in the Northwest suburbs. One route is from Buffalo Grove to the Arlington Heights train station and the other is from Wheeling through Mount Prospect to downtown Des Plaines.

Next year, the RTA is planning to start a feeder service from Elk Grove Village to the Milwaukee Road station in Bensenville. The agency also is planning feeder service from Palatine and Rolling Meadows to the North Western station in Palatine.

A regional route from Elk Grove Village's industrial area to Jefferson Park in Chicago is planned to provide transportation for workers and access to the Chicago Transit Authority's rapid transit lines.

SCHEDULED TO START June I, this new route is an important link in suburban bus service because it allows connections with train service and other bus routes in Des Plaines.

Series on state prisons begins today

Too many prisoners... and no place to put 'em

Illinois prisons are facing what Gov. James R. Thompson is calling "an unprecedented crisis."

The John Howard Assn. has said the state's penal institutions are in the same condition as New York's Attica Prison just before the 1971 bloody riot.

The alarm surrounds overcrowding - a situation that has steadily worsened to the point where the Illinois Dept. of Corrections now cannot meet the space requirements dictated by the influx of prisoners being sentenced by the courts.

THE CONSEQUENCES are being vividly portrayed in the state's adult prisons, particularly at Stateville Correctional Center in Joliet where inmates are being housed three to a cell.

Tensions peaked at Stateville Jan. 10 when two correctional officers were stabbed by inmates. one fatally, in what officials say may have been a "test" of the new Thompson administration.

Administrators of the state's adult prisons have been forced to cut programming and services as budgets and personnel have failed to keep pace with the population

IN HIS ANNUAL report released in December, Acting Corrections Director Charles J. Rowe warned the department "cannot and does not underrate the potential difficulties caused by a reduction in service delivery capability as a result of overcrowding."

At the same time, society's call to "get tough" with criminals and long-standing public apathy toward corrections have kept the penal system a low priority in the Illinois General Assembly.

Now, however, the state may be forced to make a substantial financial commitment to corrections to deal with the immediate problem. And in the face of already-gloomy state revenue projections, the commitment could mean a bigger bite on the state's taxpayers.

Herald investigative reporter Toni Ginnetti and photographer Dave Tonge spent one month researching the prison crisis. Their findings and what they will mean to Illinoisans begin today on Pages 6 and 7 in the first of a five-part series.

A resident of the Salt Creek Rural Park District has asked Park Board Pres. Walter Peppler for permission to inspect park district budgets from the past several years. Sarah Gilbert, 525 S. Williams St., Palatine, filed her request with Peppler after she was allowed last week to see only the cover and page corners of budget reports, which are public records. Comr. ### Cary man in serious condition

Two Northwest suburban residents were slightly injured and a Cary, Ill., man was hospitalized in serious condition at Northwest Community Hospital, Arlington Heights, Monday following a twocar crash in Arlington Heights. Richard S. Wesley, 22, of 6408 S. Hilly Way, Cary, received head cuts and possible internal injuries when his car was struck Sunday night by an auto driven by Jack Piper, 18, of 111 Kennicott Ave., Mount Prospect. Rene C. Gorkowski, 14, of 921 Astor Ln., Palatine, and Piper, who were riding in the same car, were treated for minor injuries at the hospital and later released. Arlington Heights police said the Piper car went through a red light on Dundee Road, west of the Ill. Rte. 83 Frontage Road, and struck the Wesley car as it was turning left onto Dundee Road from Frontage Road. Piper was charged with failing to obey a traffic signal and will appear March 21 in the Arlington Heights branch of Cook County Circuit Court.

2 charged with burglaries

Wheeling police have charged two local residents with a series of burglaries at industrial buildings. Stanley Huber, 20, and Richard Mildenberger, 17, both of 864 Piper Ln., were charged with the burglaries of five industrial firms between Jan. 25 and Feb. 18. An estimated $450 in change from candy and cigaret machines was taken, police said. Mildenberger has been freed on $3,000 bond and Huber was still in the custody of Cook County Sheriff's police Monday night on $20,000 bond. Both men are scheduled to appear March 29 in the Arlington Heights branch of Cook County Circuit

Dad loses plea to keep tot alive, faces murder rap

WICHITA, Kan. (UPI) - Herbert Smith Jr., who lost a legal effort to keep his stepdaughter artificially alive, was charged Monday with premeditated murder for the death of the 19-month-old girl.

An assistant prosecutor filed a firstdegree murder charge, the maximum possible, against Smith, 31, charging that on Jan. 31 he hit his stepdaughter, Janeen House, in the face so hard that she suffered brain damage and went into a coma.

The girl died Friday a few minutes after she was removed from a respirator at the direction of her mother, Yvonne House Smith, who was told by doctors there was no chance for recovery. A judge ruled earlier Friday that Smith had no right to keep the girl on the respirator just to keep from being charged with her death.

"MY INVESTIGATION leads me to believe I can prove premeditation and deliberation," Roger Skinner, Assistant District Attorney, said.

Smith's bond was set at $25,000 Monday afternoon, the same as his previous bond for child abuse, according to Skinner. Smith was held in Sedgwick County jail in lieu of bond, awaiting a docket call March 9 when a preliminary hearing date will be

Smith first was charged with child abuse, a felony which carries a 1-5 year sentence. The murder charge carries a penalty of life in prison, with a minimum of 15 years before parole eligibility.

WHILE THE CHILD was in a coma, Smith filed a suit asking the court for a permanent order preventing doctors from turning off the life-support equipment keeping her alive. He won a temporary order for one week until the legal merits of his case could be considered, but last Friday Associate District Judge Ray Hodge denied the request for a permanent injunction.

Smith's request, the judge ruled, was "an attempt by the plaintiff to artificially sustain the life of a both medically and legally dead child to avoid the consequences of possibly more severe criminal charges and related prosecution."

"If there was any hope, any hope whatsoever, this court could order the life-supporting equipment for that precious little life be maintained, but there is no hope in this case," Hodge

RUDOLPH HESS

WOLF R. HESS

BERLIN (UPI) - The United prison where he has served 36 years

Wolf Ruediger Hess said that if the son that they defy the Soviets and free Americans, British and French really Adolf Hitler's former deputy from the want to release his 82-year-old father, who was sentenced to life imprisonment, they could do so because fourpower Spandau prison is in the British sector of Berlin.

The son, a 39-year-old engineer, said his father told him he tried to cut his arteries Tuesday because of acute stomach pains and anguish over his long years in prison. He said his father escaped death "by a hairbreadth."

"THE AMERICANS, British and French assert they want to free my father but the Russians will not agree," he said. "But if they really wanted to and considered it in their own interest, they could close down Spandau. They could use their veto and put a stop to this slow, planned, agonizing murder of my father.

"The British could do it alone if they wanted to. The prison is in their sector and they are in a position to act independently."

The Western missions said they would not comment officially on the son's remarks. Unofficially, diplomats ruled out the possibility of acting

"It's nonsense," one diplomat said. "Hess can not be granted an amnesty without Soviet approval."

THE SON SAID that as a punishment for trying to kill himself Hess no longer may make tea and coffee in his cell and may not visit the prison

Hess was sentenced to life imprisonment Oct. 1, 1946, by the International Military Tribunal at Nuernberg. He has been in captivity since he parachuted into Scotland May 10, 1941, without Hitler's knowledge in an effort to persuade the British to fire Winston Churchill as prime minister, accept Nazi conquests and make peace.

Hess has been the only prisoner in Spandau for a decade.

Book hints Ben-Gurion loved an Englishwoman

TEL AVIV, Israel (UPI) - Former Israeli Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion carried on a secret, 15-year-long relationship with an attractive Christian Englishwoman, according to a new biography.

Michael Bar-Zohar, author of the biography "Ben-Gurion," said the involvement between the Israeli statesman, who was married at the time, and Oxford-educated Doris May was "intellectual and spiritual."

"There's no proof in the book of a sexual relationship," said Dov Garfung, general manager of Am Oved, publishers of the biography, but he added it was a "very, very, deep friendship."

MISS MAY first met Ben-Gurion in the late 1930s, when she worked in London as secretary to Chaim Weizmann who later became the first president of Israel.

Ben-Gurion spent the early 1940s in London. Jerusalem Mayor Teddy Kollek, who worked for Ben-Gurion, said Miss May taught Greek to Ben-Gurion.

Bar-Zohar describes the woman as "attractive and with an aristocratic bearing," and said she surrounded herself with literature.

After becoming Israel's first prime minister, Ben-Gurion invited Miss May, a Roman Catholic, to work with him in Israel, but she only came for brief visits. She joined him in 1956 at his request and helped in the secret preparation of correspondence for the Bar-Zohar said, however, that Miss May was disappointed and her correspondence with Ben-Gurion ended. She died of cancer in 1968 when she was 69. He died in 1973 at 87. Bar Zohar said even Miss May's closest friend in England knew nothing of the involvement. The book actually deals more with politics than with romance. Bar Zohar reveals a 1958 Turkish-Israeli pact signed by Ben-Gurion that was designed to block Soviet penetration into the Middle East, and to topple Egyptian leader Gamal Abdel Nasser.

by United Press International

Uganda radio reported Monday that President Idi Amin again has postponed a meeting he had scheduled with some 240 Americans living in the east African nation, according to the U.S. State Dept.

The State Dept. quoted the radio as saying the meeting at Entebbe airport at Entebbe. will be rescheduled.

22 commuters die in rail crash near Barcelona

BARCELONA, Spain (UPI) — Two commuter trains collided head-on near Barcelona Monday, killing 22 persons and injuring 97. The impact left both engineers dead and knocked one engine onto an adjacent highway. Officials of the Catalan Railways Co. said they were certain the accident was caused by an engineer who ran a stop signal. The train heading toward Barcelona should have stopped to let an outbound train pass, the officials said.

Rescue teams who pulled casualties from the mangled wreckage put the number of dead at 22. Hospitals said at least 97 persons were treated for injuries and a dozen of the injured were seriously hurt.

The collision occurred near the San Andres de Barca station, 12 miles west of central Barcelona.

As soon as the engines hit, workers from a factory at the site came running to assist in rescue efforts. Workers used cranes to remove the engine from the highway' and clear the tracks of other wreckage. Fire brigades rom the nearby suburb of Sabadell also helped in the rescue effort and first reported that an explosion occurred at the time of the accident. Railway officials, however, discounted those reports.

Amin originally summoned all Americans in his country "along with a listing of their possessions" to a meeting with him Monday but later moved it back to Wednesday to allow the Americans, many of whom are missionaries working in the remote bush, time to reach the meeting site

Earlier, Amin eased some of the tension in the U.S.-Uganda crisis when he assured a small group of white Americans at Entebbe that he had "nothing against them."

Americans Friday were forbidden to leave Uganda. A Nairobi, Kenya, newspaper, The Nation, said they were being kept "under strict security surveillance" but have been shopping and were able to use their automo-

Radio Uganda announced that Zairean President Mobutu Sese-Seko has cabled Amin seeking assurances for the safety of Americans. The radio said Amin has replied that "there is no cause for alarm."

Radio Uganda said Amin met informally with a group of whites, mostly Americans, at the airport and told them the world media had "misunderstood" his orders summoning all Americans in Uganda to a meeting.

"UGANDANS ARE your brothers and sisters . . . enjoy yourselves," Amin told his guests. The white party was composed mostly of American employes at Uganda Airlines. Amin said he proposed to hand out "honor medals" at Wednesday's meeting to thank Americans for their "good

The offer came Monday in the wake of the department's admission that 127 unlicensed, foreign-trained staff doctors failed to pass a special medical licensing exam given in January.

THE 127 COULD be fired when the test results are certified at the end of the week, a situation Mental Health Director Dr. Robert DeVito says could touch off a medical crisis.

In his testimony against Warnke, Nitze said, "I suggest that his past positions have been consistent, not with prudence, but with imprudence. It is this cavalier attitude of imprudence which I think disqualifies Mr. Warnke for a critical role in the search for prudent arms control."

Thompson to urge restraint on spending

by STEVE BROWN

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. - Gov. James R. Thompson will introduce his "Year of Sacrifice" budget Wednesday, and while it is expected to lack the accounting gimmicks of past administrations, it is expected to have a waituntil-next-year theme.

Thompson, who will brief the leaders of the Illinois General Assembly tonight, is expected to call for spending restraint when he goes before a joint session of the legislature at noon to present a budget totaling about $10

The GOP governor already has put the lawmakers on notice that he intends to direct the bulk of the state's $300 million in new revenue towards education, and that the state corrections system and public aid are high priority items.

THOMPSON AIDES also have been working on a series of "non-general" tax increases, but no mention of these increases is expected in the budget message. Thompson's staff is considering recommendations to boost fees for hunting, fishing and other recreation-type licenses. They also have been examining the question of suggesting gasoline, liquor and cigaret tax hikes.

Increases in those taxes are not expected unless the call for more state road money is so great that the legislators overspend the budget.

Thompson rolled out his plans for education spending in early February and offered the first hint of the waittill-next year theme. The governor promised that if the legislature went along with his spending plans this year, there should be enough available for fiscal 1979, which begins July 1, 1978, to fully fund the school aid funding formula.

The formula, which requires the state to assume 50 per cent of the cost of funding elementary and secondary education, has been the focal point of political battles in the legislature during the past three years.

WHILE THOMPSON has received some support for his spending plans and the estimates of new revenue, it can be expected that he will be closely watched by State Comptroller Michael Bakalis, a Democrat.

Bakalis agrees the state's balance sheet is not full of black ink, but he also believes the situation is not as tight as the governor indicates.

"I think he is trying to hold the line this year so that he can put together new programs in 1978," Bakalis said. The push for 1978 would be helpful to Thompson, who will be up for reelection then.

The state's spending will be about $10 billion over-all. General revenue fund spending, the portion funded by sales and income taxes, is expected to make about $6.3 billion of that amount.

SPREADING THE $300 million in new revenue for increased spending is certain not to appease the call for new programs and salary increases for many of the states 117,000 employes. The governor already has said that only small cost-of-living increases may be available at best for these workers.

Thompson has presented a series of fairly straightforward chalk talks around the state, hoping to show that by the time the spending deficits accumulated by the Walker administration are erased there will be relatively little left over for new programs. Thompson is not expected to offer any of the budgetary gimmicks, like the accelerated tax-collection plan offered by former Gov. Dan Walker last vear. The move allowed Walker to ease some of the state's cash flow problems but was a one-time stimu-

The reaction from the legislature and the public, especially the special interest groups who constantly lobby for organized labor and business, will be important from the standpoint of whether the state will be able to avoid a major sales or income tax increase during the coming year.

Dahl up for bar review on federal judicial post

by TONI GINNETTI

Cook County Circuit Court Judge Walter P. Dahl is one of 18 persons under consideration for a federal judicial appointment.

Dahl, 54, of Rolling Meadows and formerly of Arlington Heights, is among the 18 being considered for one of two federal judgeships open on the circuit level of the Northern District of Illinois. The 18 have been selected by U.S. Sen. Adlai Stevenson, D-Ill., and their names have been submitted to five bar associations for review.

Larry Hanson, an aide to Stevenson, confirmed Monday that Judge Dahl is among the 18.

DAHL IS OUT of town and could not be reached Monday, but a spokesman for his office said the judge was believed to be on the list of nominees.

The U.S. District Court has two vacancies that have not been filled since the deaths last year of William J. Lynch and Richard W. McLaren.

Stevenson will recommend two names to President Jimmy Carter to fill the posts.

Defeat of gas tax expected

A proposal for a 5 per cent gas tax is expected to be defeated by the Regional Transportation Authority Thursday as the agency jockeys for legislative changes in RTA financing. Last week, the RTA Board voted to table the gas tax proposal while seeking new funding from the legislature. Suburban board members Monday said this approach won't work since the board has not closed the door on the gas tax. The RTA is facing a $56 million deficit next year and is expected to run out of cash by June. The agency currently has the power to enact an unpopular gas tax, but several board members say they would prefer a 1 per cent sales tax.

Jail abuse trial set April 11

The Cook County jail inmate abuse trial involving Winston E. Moore, former corrections department director, and eight of his former aides has been scheduled to begin April 11. The trial was to have begun Monday, but Edward M. Genson, attorney for corrections Lt. Clarence Abraham, told Criminal Court Judge James Bailey he needs until April 11 to prepare for the trial.

Public schools may close early

Chicago Schools Supt. Joseph P. Hannon said Monday he saw "nothing at this point" which would prevent closing the schools three days early in efforts to save $9 million. The Chicago Teachers' Union has threatened a strike vote for March 31 unless the board of education withdraws its budget-saving measure by closing schools on June 14 instead of June 17. Hannon said it was a "positive sign" that the union backed off its early threats to strike immediately.

States not getting enough aid

Lt. Gov. Dave O'Neal said Monday Midwestern states are "getting ripped off" in the distribution of federal aid to the point where they are being forced to either raise taxes or cut back essential services. He pledged that the administration of new Illinois Gov. James R. Thompson is going to get "more bang for our bucks." To do this, O'Neal said, the state will become "more aggressive" in obtaining federal contracts and federal grants.

"We must challenge the federal government to award grants based upon needs of the states rather than population," he told a regional conference of the National Assn. of Counties. "The grant system is supposed to be nonpolitical. But one wonders what our federal officials had in mind when they first created the guidelines for awarding grants on the basis of population density." He charged that the taxpayers of Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Minnesota, Ohio and Wisconsin "are getting ripped off - all by the

Daley linked to Ingram-MSD talks

CHICAGO (UPI) — The late Mayor grand jury testimony. Richard J. Daley Monday was linked to contract talks between representatives of the Ingram Corp. and the Metropolitan Sanitary District, now the subject of a federal bribery case.

The New Orleans-based corporation signed an exclusive $43 million contract to haul sludge for the district. Officials of Ingram, the sanitary district and others were indicted June 28 and accused of giving and receiving kickbacks in awarding the contract.

Daly's name came up during a grand jury investigation into the contract signed in 1971 and was mentioned by Steven S. Roszel, a former Ingram vice president who now operates a marine engineering firm in Singapore, court documents said.

"MR. ROSZEL testified that (former Ingram Vice Pres. William J.) Benton told him he had been contacted by Mayor Daley several times in regards to the Chicago contract, both by phone and in person," according to a memorandum filed with the U.S. District Court by defense law-

Benton is an unindicted coconspirator and is expected to be one of the key government witnesses in the trial now scheduled Sept. 12. The memorandum asks the government for more information about Benton's ator.

Roszel confirmed his testimony and was quoted as saying Benton told him, "The man himself has been in touch with me." "Who the hell is the man?" Roszel

"MAYOR DALEY," Benton replied. Roszel said Benton "never told me the details" of his conversations with Court documents show prosecutors interviewed Daley about the alleged scandal, but did not mention his role in the contract talks.

The defense memorandum said, "Government attorneys as meticulous as those conducting the investigation in this matter would at some point have questioned former Mayor Daley in respect to the allegation by Benton that he was contacted on several occasions by Mayor Daley."

Those under indictment include Frederick B. Ingram, New Orleans, and E. Bronson Ingram, Nashville, Tenn., both Ingram executives; Bart T. Lynam, sanitary district general superintendent; former sanitary district Comr. Valentine Janicki; Comr. Chester P. Majewski, former state Rep. Robert F. McParlin, D-Chicago, businessman Franklin H. # 'St. Francis' of lost pets has prayers answered

by MARSHA S. BOSLEY

One week after Bob Frank pleaded for financial support to relocate lost pets and rehabilitate injured ones, his Society of St. Francis is $600 richer.

Fifty-two contributions reached Frank shortly after he told The Herald of the society's money problems. The organization's cash crisis created a penniless plight for Frank when he drained his pockets and bank account to crusade for decent treatment of his animal friends.

"This is going to help a great deal," Frank said of the recent donations. "But it isn't enough to keep it going forever. Hopefully the money will keep coming in."

FRANK, 400 W. MILBURN Ave., Mount Prospect, said the money will be used to pay medical bills and boarding expenses for the stray animals. Funds also are needed for advertising and to operate the society's lost and found pet service hotline, 259-6680.

An average veterinarian bill costs Frank between $100 and $300 depending on how much treatment an animal needs. In its first year, the society raised about $5,000.

Frank, 42, decided to devote his life to animal welfare in August 1975 when he abandoned his $18,000-a-year job as an auditor with the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture to set up the Society of St. Francis.

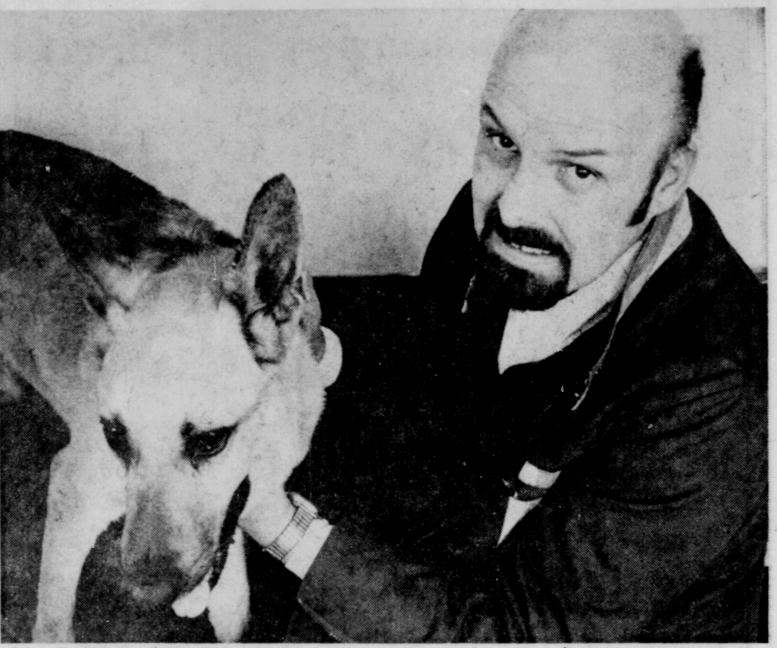

His wife, Pat, is a waitress in a local restaurant. Her part-time paycheck is their only source of income.

"SO MANY PEOPLE, from the whole general area, have called to say they want to help or volunteer in some way," said Frank, enthused with the response to his SOS. "It's a big help," he said.

Frank told of an incident last week in which a twomonth-old puppy was found on Chicago's West Side with one of its eyes gouged out. A sympathetic resident alerted him to the tragic scene. "Normally, we wouldn't have been able to help it," Frank said. But with the recent contributions the dog was given proper care.

Although the money provided some needed immediate relief for the society, he said he will have to limit his aid to ailing animals unless the donations continue coming in on a steady basis.

When asked if the nonprofit organization would have to fold within the next year because of financial difficulties, Frank said, "It's still a possibility."

JAKE, A GERMAN Shepherd, may have leukemia, says Bob Frank, Mount Prospect resident and founder of the Society of St. Francis. Jake is one of many animals Frank takes in for treatment. Frank and his organization are in financial trouble, but recent contributions to the society will continue to pay the veterinarian bills. Frank is asking for help from ani-

Ms. Michelin said she also applied for $10,000 in revenue-sharing funds from Palatine, Schaumburg and Wheeling townships.

"I feel comfortable we will get some money, but I wouldn't be bold enough to say we'll get all we ask,"

Ms. Michelin was the only person to discuss her proposal Monday with the board. She had been asked to explain her request, which was made after the township's deadline.

"IT WAS NOT DUE to negligence," she said. "We just weren't ready.

"We tend to convince ourselves this is an afflunt area because the eye only sees what it wants to see," she said.

Auditor Bernard Lee said, "There are very few people who can't pay their bills. There are more middleclass people who are caught in the middle."

Ms. Michelin said the clinic is for such persons and also will emphasize care for senior citizens who do not get pioper medical care because of the

From Ivy League to troubled prison halls

by TONI GINNETTI

JOLIET, ILL. - The words flow articulately, the way one would expect from a Harvard-educated criminal justice fellow.

And yet Warden David H. Brierton will admit that "it's difficult to walk through here and talk philosophically about 2,000 years of human civilization and progress."

"Here" is the Stateville Correctional Center, where the reality of three men to a 60-square-foot cell makes philosophy seem trite.

"I'm 39 on the outside, 75 on the inside," he tells you. Stateville and its problems will do that to a

Those problems have reached crisis proportions. Two correctional officers were stabbed by inmates Jan. 10, one fatally. And Brierton admits he "doesn't sense an easing of tension yet" since that incident.

Brierton has been Stateville's warden since 1974, rising "through the ranks" from correctional officer to administrator. He has studied at Harvard and in the corridors of prisons. The two have taught him that the problems facing the state's corrections department hold no easy answers.

"What happens is you tend to have a saw-toothed graph when you talk about prisons," he says. "It fluctuates from one mean to another. Rarely do we reach a point where we can say that policy is dictated by process."

Brierton says the mood of the late 1960s to "tear down prisons" has been replaced by the call to "put everyone away." "Now we have changing lifestyles and crime is creeping into suburban life. Urban America is in trouble," he says, and that is translating into trouble for pris-

Overcrowding and an unwillingness by the public to provide more funds to accommodate the crunch are strangling state prisons - and the grip is tightest on Stateville.

Dave Brierton — the man with 2,800 woes.

"The problems come in several dimensions," Brierton says. "One is how do you keep 3,000 people here who don't want to be here.

"Part of the social-operational problem is how are you going to handle a deviant population. You know, 2,400 of the people here have either raped, murdered or committed armed robbery. And then people are astonished when we have violence here."

Brierton thinks more than theory is needed to deal with the state's corrections crisis. "What does society want you to do? At this point society doesn't know much about prisons. It is not a high priority. Highways are more important than prisons."

For Brierton, the reality is the $4,300 per bed cost to run Stateville and the one-third increase in the population which must be accommodated on the same budget.

"The most sensitive problem is not the overcrowding, it's what the overcrowding brings," he says. It is difficult to do long time in any institution, but when that time must be done two and three to a cell "it creates spinoff problems that are enormous," he says.

Brierton says 40 per cent of Stateville's population is being housed three to a cell. "We need to bring it down to two to a cell and raise the level of involvement so that every man has a program if he wants it."

He is cautiously optimistic that Gov. James R. Thompson's awareness of the corrections problems could bring help. "I think all in all the budget probably will go up. I don't think we will have carte blanche right to go out spending, but I think there's reasonable acceptance that corrections has to be dealt with.

"I don't have the slightest idea (what will happen if overcrowding does not ease,)" he says. "How did I make it for two years without an incident and then the first one I have is a killing? It's hard to say what will happen."

A time bomb ticks inside prison walls

by TONI GINNETTI First in a series

JOLIET, Ill. - There is a cold draft in the long empty corridor. But it is the slamming of the steel gate behind you that chills more.

Prison. Everything around you says

The grey-metal iron gates separating sections of the cell house; the identical blue denim clothing of each man walking in regiment to a work assignment; the stern-faced correctional officer staring at the grounds from atop a guard tower; the sign reminding visitors they are subject to personal search; the austere, institutional sameness of the buildings...

And the bars.

They tell you where you are . . . prison . . . but not just prison. Stateville.

The name itself conjures grim images of hard time, "tough" criminals, a fortress of rigid control where "the worst" are caged. "Let's face it," Warden David H. Brierton will tell you, "Stateville is where all the losers

Behind these walls is the heart of a state dilemma growing in magnitude and frightening in consequence. It is a dilemma spawned, strangely, in a call for "law and order" and nurtured by neglect.

"Crisis," they are calling it, "unprecedented" and potentially ex-

The signs of it surfaced here Jan. 10, Gov. James R. Thompson's inauguration day, and the day Lt. Peter Beckett Burd and Lt. Joseph Barry Foster were stabbed in cell house D. Foster, 35, survived. Burd, 33, did

The gates were locked tight after that, with more than 2,800 men virtually confined to 60-square-foot cells holding two and three each.

More than a month after the stabbings, most here are off "lockup" status, but few are off edge.

That is one strain, present in subtle signs, mistrusting glances. But another strain is omnipresent. It is the strain of numbers, vividly portrayed in a three-bunk, one-toilet cell and a man lying idly atop his mattress, the only place where there is some room to stretch his length.

Overcrowding is the criminal in Stateville. It is victimizing the prison every day, and it is threatening to do the same at the state's other adult penal institutions.

No one is denying its existence, nor is anyone in an illusion about the prospects it will bring if it continues.

Prison riots, some warn; some kind of violence at the least, others say. All admit it is the worst here, and if trouble erupts, Stateville could likely be the scene of confrontation.

There have been some efforts toward improvement, but for the $18,-000 remodeled dental facilities in the prison hospital, there is the broken glass on the cell block door; and for the decorated visiting room there is the 440-volt-charged-wiring hugging the wall of a corridor in the wing where a transformer went out.

And there is chipping paint, a drafty corridor and orders for clothing lagging behind the influx of prisoners. And the 60-square-foot cells, three men full.

"That's the Wall," Assistant Warden Robert Kapture tells you as you pass the first gate into the cell house. Behind it is life under lock and key.

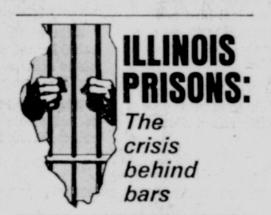

There are other gates beyond. They are electronically controlled. "The Wall" is still commanded by a key.

"Gradually we're coming into the Kapture says. He says it with a smile, but the remark is not totally facetious.

The prison complex was built between 1916 and 1925 on 64 acres of a 2,200 acre state-owned site just north of Joliet. The half century that has passed shows in these buildings.

Some things have changed. Death Row, once the final stop on a convicted murderer's judgment path, is now, ironically, an oriented room where each inmate spends his first six days in Stateville.

The electronically-controlled gates and strategically-located camera monitors have replaced most of the old lock-and-key security in corridors. An audio mechanism within the system permits communication with a distant gate keeper when a barrier must be opened or closed.

The visiting room is an open area with colorful, inmate-made tables and chairs, not at all the stereotyped, glass-separated system that allowed only telephone contact between visitors and inmates.

The state went to the open system in November, 1974. "The problem is you get increased contraband, but it's a more informal atmosphere of vis- armed officer in the center gym towiting and it allows some form of physical contact. And frankly we're able to accommodate more visitors this way," the assistant warden says.

"We've had as many as 350 to 400 visitors in here on a Sunday."

The dental facilities in the prison hospital have been remodeled, but it took nearly a year to obtain the $18,000 needed for the work.

That is one telling indication why other changes do not come. Money is a key issue in the prison crisis.

It will cost $13.1 million to run this institution this fiscal year, and Stateville's warden has asked for a 15 per cent increase for the coming year.

But money is a material problem. The other problem lives and breathes inside those cells.

"The issue is too many people," Kapture tells you. "Three to a cell is too many. It's the worst possible combination because you have two dominant and one weak.

"We try to as humanly possible assign three compatible men, but as I said, three is the worst possible num-

The rising prison population has forced the consolidation move, and the more than 2,800 inmates here are spilling from the 1,380 cells even into places like the power house and orientation room as officials are forced to find housing space.

Worse, perhaps, is what the bursting population has brought with it. From basic clothing needs - back orders for clothing have not kept pace with the rate of incoming prisoners to unworkable demands on the 362member security staff, prison officials say their resources are being taxed to

So severe is the strain that as many 20th Century," Assistant Warden as 450 to 500 inmates must remain idle in their cells because correctional officers cannot guard the increased numbers on work assignments.

> Because of that the prison has gone to a "labor pool" system, rotating men on work assignments.

The situation becomes compounded by the fact that "industries," which made up the bulk of the work assignments, have been cut, Kapture says.

Declining demand for prison-made items was partially responsible for the cut, although Kapture says a reorganization process is underway to create many more programs.

How all this affects a man in a cubicle behind bars is betrayed perhaps in Kapture's admission that 15 per cent of the men placed in segregation - the only place an inmate is jailed alone - ask to stay there.

They ask it in spite of the fact that each day in segregation means the loss of 71/2 days per month of compensatory "good time" served.

Time is the jailkeeper in prison. A day that starts at 6:30 a.m. is filled with it.

The men are up by 6:30 a.m. and a head count is taken. By 7:30 a.m. the count is completed, the inmates have breakfast then go to work assignments if they are scheduled for them. Lunch is given in the cell houses at about 11:45 a.m. Work assignments end at 2:30 or 3 p.m.

"Every man gets out to the yard or the gym six times a week," the assistant warden says. "When you're operating a large maximum security facility, everything must run on a rigorous schedule. It has to."

Two unarmed officers supervise the gym activity. Throughout the prison armed officers are stationed only in the 19 guard towers, and there is an

The officers are polite but distant "I guess there is a certain degree of tension," Officer W. M. Brewer says, but he won't continue. He has been a correctional officer here for 111/2 years and has worked as a tower officer for four years.

You wonder what the feelings are here between inmate and in-keeper.

"It will run the gamut," Assistant Warden Kapture says. "It depends on how the inmates view themselves. Do they see themselves as a victim? Do they see themselves here to do their time and get it over with?

"What he brings in from the streets has a lot to do with it. If he sees himself as a Stone or a Ranger, he will see himself as an outsider here."

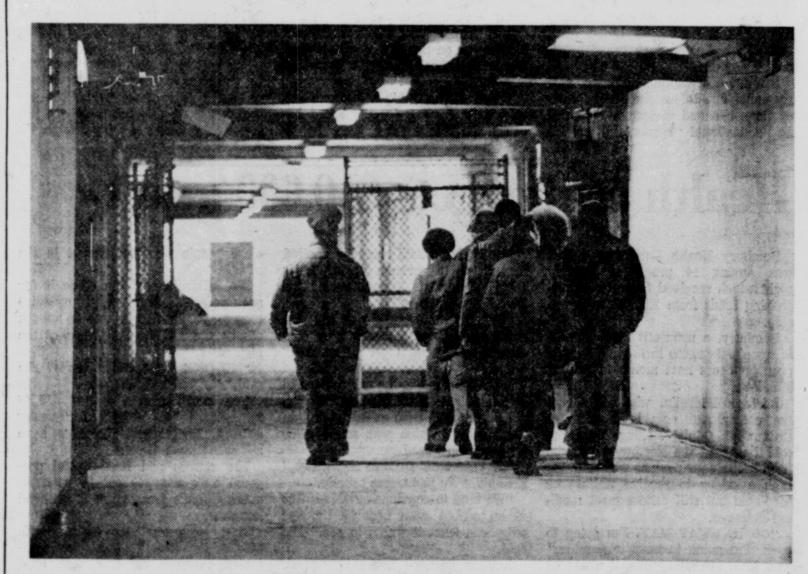

Inmates who have had strong street gang ties generally are "the problem offenders" in prison, he says, though he thinks some reports of gang trouble behind bars "are exaggerated."

"It's a problem, I'm not going to deny it, but I would not call it a serious problem in that it doesn't upset the daily routine. But we deal with it by treating them as individuals and not recognizing their gang ties."

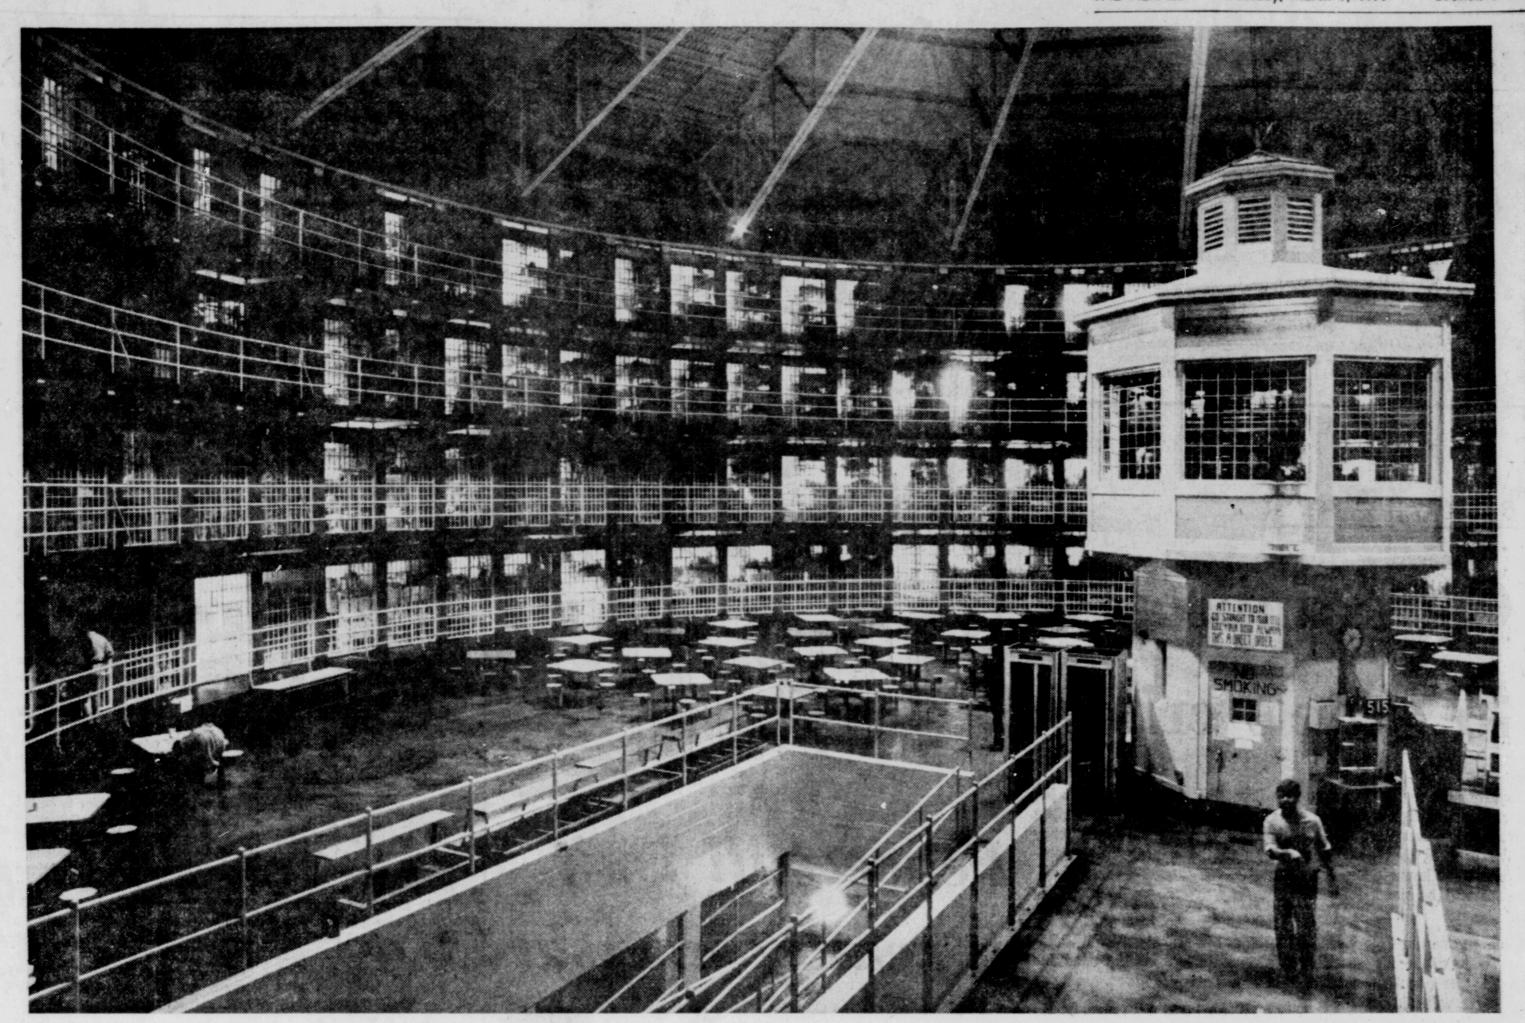

Gang affiliations, antiquated facilities, programming, lack of funds. They are all serious problems. But they are not the time bomb with the shortest fuse. That one is overcrowding.

"The immediate need is to match the increased population with suitable, humane housing," Assistant Warden Kapture says. "If we don't do that, I think we've completely missed the boat."

Calm approach to state's crisis

Governor James R. Thompson will present his first state budget Wednesday and start the legislative process that eventually will determine how quickly a tax increase will be needed in Illinois.

The governor's message, which will outline his spending plans for the fiscal year beginning July 1, will add definition to his already declared "Year of Sacrifice."

The Illinois General Assembly is waiting to see how Thompson intends to make the sacrifices and whether the new Republican governor's priorities mesh with those of the legislature's Democratic majority.

Thompson offered some insight into his spending plans when he announced how much he will provide for education. While the figure is a staggering $3 billion, the increased aid to public schools is substantially less than educators want.

The governor is expected to stand firm on his spending plans. There is no evidence to support calls for new programs nor large spending increases for existing services.

Besides its educational needs, the state has a crisis in its corrections system that will require a large cash infusion to ease.

Thompson must also work to correct the deficit spending practices of the Walker administration. This adjustment also cuts deeply into revenue for other programs.

The task ahead for both the governor and the legislature is a careful and responsible journey through the appropriations pro-

Animosity towards the agency is at an all-time high, with many officials calling for disbandment of NIPC. The immediate cause is the temporary housing criteria now being used in NIPC reviews of applications for federal funds.

Many suburban officials see this as an encroachment on their independence. They charge the planning agency is the first step tor ards regional government dominated by the city.

Peace still isn't a reality in Asia

The bloodbath that wasn't supposed to happen after the Communists seized Southeast Asia is now being largely ignored. Even as it begins to spread to neighboring countries. In the wake of persecution in Vietnam and outright massacre in Cambodia comes the news from Thailand that some 30 Thai villagers have been killed, in the conventionally colorful ways, in a border raid by the Khmer

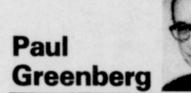

You may find the story, if at all, somewhere back in the bunion ads. That way, you see, it isn't really happening, which may be great solace for those who never approved of getting involved over there, anyway. But it doesn't do much for the victims.

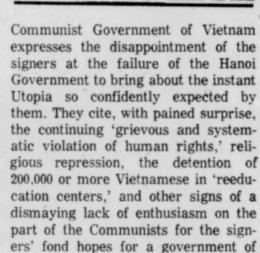

The account of this raid comes from Thailand. There is no word about the incident out of Cambodia, let alone any explanation. The Khmer Rouge are not given to explaining the bloodletting in their own country; they are not likely to go into detail when it oozes across the border.

By now even old protesters like Daniel Ellsberg, Joan Baez, the Berrigans, begin to turn their protests against the regimes their policies encouraged in Ho Chi Minh City (nee Saigon) and Phnom Penh. If the results of having followed their lead weren't so ghastly, the spectacle of their outraged consciences at this late date would be amusing. To quote a letter to the New York Times at year's end, when these same old protesters were suddenly addressing new govern-

"I don't know when I have had my day so agreeably brightened as recently by the published account of the message sent by the unhappy group of pacifists - or activists or anti-war protesters, or whatever - to the predictably unresponsive Vietnam observer at the U.N.

"This message, or petition, to the they've come a long way, baby.

But there is really not much amusement, and certainly no comfort, in such spectacles. If Joan Baez & Chorus have seen the light only lately, they at least have seen it and are responding to it. They're not just trying to forget Vietnam as though it never existed, or retailing the same old excuses and denials (often simultaneously) for the savagery of Southeast Asia's "liberators." They still don't seem to recognize their own measure of responsibility for these brutal events, but how much can one expect of the preternaturally self-righteous?

'Bad Carter picks'

The Feb. 1 Paddock editorial approved of the several decisions Pres. Carter made during his first 12 days in office, and suggested that these decisions showed promise of good things to come. I disagree completely and would like to point out that his decisions indicate a strong willed determination to follow through on what he considers best for this country, and that he obviously intends to disregard the wishes of many people. For example, his decision to pardon draft evaders has offended many people. One recalls that at an American Legion Convention Carter was soundly booed when he announced his intentions on this issue.

When you combine Carter's strong will with the political philosophers and strong wills of his appointees, you begin to worry about the future of this country. For example Sol M. Linowitz, chief negotiator for a new Panama Canal Treaty - Congressman McDonald of Georgia informs us that Mr. Linowitz was a registered foreign agent of the Communist government of Chile under Salvador Allende, and that even as of Feb. 1 Linowitz was an active registered foreign agent for the interests of Columbia. Can such a man properly represent American interests?

Another example is Andrew Young, Carter's choice to be our representative at the U.N. In 1970 Mr. Young made an unsuccessful bid for Congress, and on national TV declared, " . . . it may take the destruction of Western civilization to allow the rest of the world to really emerge as a free and brotherly society." More recently Young wants blacks in the United States to "bring political pressure to force the adoption of a policy supporting black nationalist governments and guerrilla groups throughout Africa.

Another example: Zbigniew Brzezinski, Carter's choice to be his foreign political advisor. Mr. Brzezinski told Robert Scheer of Playboy, "Henry (Kissinger) worked for Nelson (Rockefeller) as an employe and I work with David (Rockefeller) as an associate." Brzezinski claims, "... the fiction of sovereignty ... (American sovereignty included) . . is no longer compatible with reality." With Brzezinski as an advisor it is understandable why on Aug. 1, 1976 Carter told The New York Times that he "would give priority to international economic questions, sharing the resources of the seas, food, and natural resources." The article further adds, "Brzezinski observed that it is too bad many American still see this as a claim on their resources and as portending the confiscation of the fruits of their labor . . . " How true.

Almost every important Carter appointee is a member of an organization called The Council of Foreign Relations. The Chairman of the board of this organization is David Rockefeller, and it is dedicated to put an end to national sovereignty, including U.S. sovereignty.

It appears that America's decline as a World power is not an accident but actually planned that way by The Council on Foreign Relations to hasten the formation of a new World Order, and that Pres. Carter and his appointees now compose the strongest team ever assembled to bring this about.

No choice for dead infant

I have difficulty with the letter of Gloria Hogberg of Wheeling which you published in your February 21 edition of The Herald. She feels it would be "more humane" to have an abortion rather "than the tragedy that did occur." It seems she is attempting to ascribe relative degrees of humaneness to two situations, one of which she describes as a tragedy.

I don't know if she intends that the higher degree of humaneness be associated with the infant or the mother. If to the infant, I believe that either an abortion or leaving the full term baby to freeze to death would result in exactly the same thing - a deliberate, thought-out and willful action to terminate the life of a helpless human. That death decision was made for the infant by someone else. I see no difference in degree of humanity between a death sentency by freezing or by "suctioning out the contents" of

If Ms. Hogberg was associating the humanity with the mother, she presumably means that society or the law would have been more kind and benevolent had she had an abortion rather than destroying the life of another human at a later time. I don't believe that any of us can know what kindness or benevolence she needed at what time. In either event, she appears to have needed a lot of kindness and help.

In various degrees of humanity, the mother certainly had some amount available to her if she sought it. The child, be it eight weeks or 40 weeks into life, had only inhumanity and no chance for love in either event.

I had left St. Stephen's hall after a night of bingo and shortly thereafter discovered that I had a flat tire. I drove into the K-Mart parking lot and parked the car in the automotive section.

I was unable to reach my husband by phone; he was sound asleep. No one knows how frightening it is to find oneself in a completely deserted area and no way to get home (aside from walking about a mile). I started walking towards McDonald's with a silent prayer on my lips. Almost instantly my prayer was answered when I saw this officer coming towards me.

Cold temps cause record trade loss

The coldest winter weather in the nation's history took its toll on the economy in January, contributing to a record trading deficit and a sharp decline in the government's barometer of future economic activity, the Commerce Dept. said Monday. Commerce said the country suffered its biggest monthly trade deficit ever in January as imports exceeded exports by $1.67 billion. The previous largest deficit was $1.03 billion last November. The department also said its composite index of leading indicators, which forecasts future trends in production, finance and jobs, slipped 1.2 per cent in January. It was the biggest drop in two years. The Agriculture Dept. also blamed the weather for a 12 per cent increase in prices for vegetables and a 2 per cent boost in the average of all raw farm product prices for the period ended Feb 15. Commerce reported exports in January totaled $9.59 billion, down from the record total of $10.4 billion in December. Imports last month were valued at $11.26 billion, the highest level ever. The January deficit of $1.67 billion compared to a $610 million deficit in December.

Workman's comp changes urged

Legislation affecting the Illinois Workman's Compensation Assigned Risk Plan, administered by the state Industrial Commission, and changes in the Workman's Compensation benefit statute were among recommendations presented Monday by a subcommittee of the Illinois Insurance Laws Study Commission. State Rep. Bernard Epton, R-Chicago, commission chairman, said the four-member subcommittee headed by State Rep. Richard Mautino, D-Spring Valley, concluded that a substantial portion of recent increases in workman's comp insurance premiums can be traced to changes made in 1975 by the Illinois General Assembly in statutory benefits. Among the subcommittee's recommendations are that the Dept. of Insurance rather than the Illinois Industrial Commission should supervise the assigned risk statute, a separate legal entity should assign applications for assigned risk insurance rather than the Industrial Commission, a "significant cause" test should be added to the definition of occupational disease, study should be done of limits on the awarding of attorneys fees, and a medical review unit within the Industrial Commission should be considered.

State's economy dying: merchant

"Government fiscal and regulatory policies are killing the state's economy," said Howard Dubin, publisher of the Illinois Manufacturers Directory in a report Monday. "Illinois can work itself back into economic shape only if federal, state and local government levels are willing to administer proper medicine," he said. Dubin said his survey of Illinois businesses, showed 950 new firms opened in Illinois during 1976, compared with 1,084 firms that closed, merged with other companies or moved out of state. The 1977 directory lists 19,037 manufacturing firms in Illinois. Since 1967, Dubin said, Illinois has lost 206,800 manufacturing jobs in addition to related service and retailing jobs. Dubin said Illinois will need to create 600,000 new industrial jobs during the next decade to keep pace with the national economy.

U.S. seeks Fitzsimmons' ouster

The Labor Dept. is trying to remove Teamsters Pres. Frank Fitzsimmons and others as trustees of the union's $1.4 billion Central States pension fund, sources said Monday. Fitzsimmons and other trustees apparently have refused to step down voluntarily, prompting an announcement late last week that the Labor Dept. intends to "take appropriate remedial action." The Labor Dept., Justice Dept. and Internal Revenue Service have been investigating the fund for more than a year under the 1974 pension reform act. The trustees have been accused of investing over the years in shaky, Mafia-related enterprises

Brazil coffee sales hit record

Brazil smashed coffee sales records last week, the country's Coffee Institute reported Monday. The institute president said importers waiting for the American coffee boycott to force prices down "wound up getting their fingers burned."

The Brazilian Coffee Institute said exporters registered sales of 400,000 sacks of 132 pounds each last Thursday and 600,000 sacks Friday for a two-day total of one million sacks. The previous record was set Feb. 18 when Brazil sold 461,581 sacks for a total price of about $150 million dollars, or roughly $324 per sack.

Government electronic systems mean big business and new jobs in the Northwest suburbs, say officials of the defense systems division of the Northrop Corp. in Rolling Meadows.

Wallace Solbtrg, division vice president and general manager, Monday said the planned 90,000 square foot expansion to the division's quarters, 600 Hicks Rd., will house an additional 500 employes within the next two years. The plant's work force now is 920 with a $15 million annual payroll.

Solberg's forecast for beefed-up government contracts and local production was supported by Thomas Paine, president and chief operating officer of the Los Angeles-based com-

Paine said Monday the Chicago area division has delivered its first internal counter measures sets (ICS) for the F15 fighter planes. Setting the value of this production program at more than $100 million, Paine predicted the division's sales will more than double in the next three years.

THERE IS MORE to the Rolling Meadows-based contractor's work than development and manufacture of the ICS for the Air Force F15s, Solberg said. Counter measures systems, which automatically jam enemy radar signals, are developed to suit many specialized U.S. defense needs.

"You're always trying to look ahead," Solberg said. "This business is basically reactionary, but we try to design systems that will be useful well into the future." The F15 ICS is designed for use into the 1990s, he

"We've been burned more than once, looking too far ahead or down the wrong road," Solberg said. He recalls the local division's layoff of 250 employes during the slack years of 1971 and 1972. Many defense contractors suffered across-the-board employe cutbacks during those years.

But Northrop had a notion that engineering and other technical personnel should be recruited as the company geared itself for future expansion, Solberg said. Now the payoff for the former Hallicrafters plant can be counted in extensive development capability, he said.

The defense system division has several projects in the works, each at different stage of development. Northrop has contracts for the B1 aircraft prototype counter measures system, development of a system for use in Army helicopters and an updated system for the B52 bomber. The company also may get contracts for F16 and F18 fighter planes.

SOLBERG SAID he believes the local division, which also has a Des Plaines plant, 175 Oakton St., will be able to sidestep the dramatic swings in sales and employment which have plagued many government contractors. "I'm looking at this company for our employes as a steady state business," he said. "I've been in this business 18 years and the outlook has never been brighter."

Laser, electro-optical and other technologies may contribute to expanded sales in the future.

For security reasons, Solberg offers only hazy explanations about the source of new counter measures design concepts.

Or, in language any ex-kid should understand: If you don't play by our rules, we're going home.

The shoe industry is mad at South Korea, Taiwan and Brazil.

And the reason is similar: Wages paid workers in foreign footwear plants are way below domestic rates (according to the U.S. International Trade Commission, or ITC, the Asian manufacturers pay their workers only 10 per cent of the American scale).

Unemployment in the domestic shoe industry is estimated at 15 per cent, or roughly twice the national average, and many businesses no longer find it possible to keep heel and sole together. (Ten years ago, 675 U.S. shoe firms operated about 1,000 plants; now some 350 survivors run only 700 plants. From 1968 to 1975, while foreign shoemakers more than doubled their share of the U.S. market — to more than 45 per cent — the payroll at U.S. shoemakers declined from 233,000 workers to only 163,000.)

So it's a problem, not just for the U.S. shoe industry but for Jimmy Carter, who must now decide whether to protect it with stiff new tariffs and quotas - as urged by the American Footwear Industry's Assn. and supported by the ITC.

BUT PRESIDENT Carter who is expected to decide this one in about two months, is being pressured the other way by many diplomats and international trade experts. For one thing, they argue, such a protectionist move by the U.S. might slow the world economic recovery. So in the longer run, the U.S. - as a trading nation, and as the home of great multinational corporations - is likely to prosper most in an atmosphere of international economic freedom, of fewer (rather than more) restrictions on the passage of goods and capital among nations. Such freedom can bring unwanted cold showers for specific industries, as the shoe business has discovered, but the question ultimately may become to what extent we can erect barriers here and expect them to be lowered elsewhere.

Police overpower gunman near queen

A New Zealand man with a loaded rifle was overpowered by police just before Britain's Queen Elizabeth was to leave Parliament House Monday. Police said off-duty detective Bill Hooper wrestled the 28-year-old man to the ground as he pulled the rifle from a gun case, about 65 feet from where the queen was to pass.

The weapon was a .22 caliber air rifle which "at close range it would be almost lethal," said Chief Inspector Roger Cotterill, security coordinator for the royal visit. Cotterill said police had spotted the suspect and were quietly moving toward him through the crowd of 10,000 gathered to watch the queen when he was grabbed by Hooper, who was there as a spectator.

The unidentified suspect was charged with violating firearms laws and will appear in court Tuesday, police said.

Egypt, the Sudan and Syria agreed Monday to establish a joint command aimed at coordinating their policies with the aim of eventual political unity among the Arab countries. "This is the nucleus of a great unionist structure . . . for confronting the challenges facing the Arab nation (world)," Syrian President Hafez Assad said. The declaration "affirms the will and determination of the Arab nation to preserve its sovereignty and independence," said Egyptian President Anwar Sadat.

The signing by Sadat, Assad and Sudanese President Jaafar Numeiry came at the end of a two-day conference in which they discussed closer policy coordination, a common position on Middle East peace efforts and Red Sea security.

Schmidt admits a 'Watergate'

West German Chancellor Helmut Schmidt's office Monday admitted complicity in a Teutonic "Watergate" affair involving breaking into the home of an atomic scientist and hiding a microphone in his living room. The interior affairs committee of the Bundestag, lower house of parliament, scheduled a special meeting Tuesday to listen to the explanations rom Interior Minister Werner Maihofer and Richard Meier, President of the Federal Office for the Protection of the Constituion, roughly equivalen to America's Schmidt's office became directly involved because the Federal Intelligence Service which is responsible to Schmidt's state secretary assigned one of its agents to pick the lock of the scientist's home so that Meier's operatives could get inside to search it, photograph documents and plant a microphone with transmitter behind the scientist's desk.

Rhodesia to recruit 12,000 men

The Rhodesian government said Monday it plans to recruit 12,000 men aged 38 to 50 into Rhodesian security forces and that the use of "our womenfolk cannot be overlooked" in fighting the war against black nationalist guerrillas. Rowan Cronje, minister of manpower and social affairs, said the recent intensification of the four-year-old civil war has made necessary the maximum use of available manpower.

"There is room for improvement in this regard and the possibility of the greater use of our womenfolk cannot be overlooked,"

It was the second time this month that the possibility of calling on women has been mentioned.

Jury chosen in Maddux case

A jury of nine men and three women was selected Monday for the second-degre murder trial of Ronald Maddux, and Wanda Gibson Maddux, accused of torturing the woman's 4-year-old daughter to death. The Cleveland, Tenn., couple was charged in October after Melisha Gibson's nude body was found on a urine-stained mattress at their home. An autopsy showed she died of shock and exposure. A statement to police by Mrs. Maddux said Maddux, Melisha's stepfather, had forced the child to march around the home for hours, beat her when she tired and gave her hot sauce to drink when she begged for water. Selection of a panel of 12 jurors and an alternate cleared the way for testimony to begin Tuesday. The jury was sequestered for the night at a motel.

Court to hear states' appeal of oil tanker laws

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The Supreme Court agreed Monday to decide whether states have authority to protect their environment from oil spills by barring supertankers from their ports and regulating smaller vessels.

The justices will hear arguments, probably next fall, in an appeal by Washington state of a three-judge federal court ruling that a 1972 federal law leaves tanker regulation solely in the hands of Congress and the Coast Guard.

Both Washington and Atlantic Richfield, which challenged the state's ban on supertankers in Puget Sound, agreed the case raises important issues about a state's authority to protect its environment as against the nation's need to assure a continuing supply of oil from imports and the Alaska pipeline.

A RASH OF recent oil spills, mainly off the Alantic coast, has brought greater attention to the appeal. Ten other states joined in asking the high court to hold that federal law does not bar states from establishing higher safety standards.

Atlantic Richfield countered that the lower court was correct in finding Congress intended to pre-empt state regulatory power to ensure that supertankers will find ports for delivery of much-needed fuel imports while establishing appropriate federal standards for environmental safety.

The federal Ports and Waterways Act of 1972 sets certain standards for tanker construction and gives the Coast Guard authority to establish water routes for tankers of varying

Governors tell Carter of fuel, Medicaid woes

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The nation's governors sat down with President Carter for two and a half hours Monday and came away optimistic that having one of their own in the White House will make it easier for the states to get along with Washing-

Florida Gov. Reubin Askew, chairman of the National Governors Conference, led a delegation to meet the President, who worked with many of them when he was governor of Georgia from 1971 to 1975.

"Having a former governor in the White House unquestionably will make a substantial emount of difference in what will be a meaningful relationship," Askew told reporters after the closed meeting.

Askew said a number of past administrations also had sought a doser relationship with governors, but "they have not had the state perspective Gov. Carter brings to the scene."

ASKEW SAID the western states drought was a major topic of the meeting. He said Carter showed an "awareness" that "the country faces the worst drought we've probably had in recorded history and the seriousness down the line even to the standpoint of food and the impact upon price of food."

Gov. Jerry Brown of California, also talking with reporters outside the White House, called it a "free discussion . . . eliciting thoughts and ideas . . . just a beginning."

Brown said he thought Carter "was strong on his commitment to conservation and the environment."

The 47 governors, holding their regular winter conference here, concentrated on energy and health care for the poor in the first session of a two-day meeting. They adopted a task force report that warned Medicaid costs were reaching the breaking

GEORGIA GOV. George Busbee, head of the task force, said Medicaid has gone from $4.7 billion a year in 1970 to $14.7 billion in 1975 "and by fiscal 1980 it is very likely that we will spend in excess of $27.8 billion."

But Busoee said he was concerned that interest in Medicaid centered on cost control and elimination of fraud. while "true reform . . . must meet broader tests of quality and equity."

"It is important at both the federal and state levels to recognize the legitimate health care needs and services of the country's poor and to provide programs to meet these needs,"

The task force report included proposals for consolidation of the 53 different Medicaid programs into a "single organizational entity," stronger efforts to detect and punish Medicaid abuses, and incentives, instead of penalties, to encourage efficient administration.

The governors heard Chairman Henry Jackson, D-Wash., of the Senate Energy Committee predict passage in March of Carter's proposal for a new federal department of energy, but warn that it alone would not solve the problem.

A Marshall University student who authorities said was apparently recruited by the "Satan Worshipers," was found beaten and raped on the campus Feb. 21.

Authorities Sunday said what appeared at the outset to be a routine assault case has mushroomed into a baffling investigation.

There were odd cut marks on the 19-year-old woman's body, markings that indicated to police she was more than just a rape victim. The cult is directly linked to the attack on the unidentified woman, Capt. Norman Noble said.

Noble said the cult has 25 to 30 members and appears to be comprised mostly of men. Men can leave the organization freely, without fear of reprisals, he said, but women must become members for life.

"It's our opinion that she wanted out," Noble said of the raped

Chmiel's basket rescues Saxons

by ART MUGALIAN

John Chmiel saved his best shot for last, guiding an 18-foot jumper into the basket with :03 left to play as Schaumburg beat Hoffman Estates. 46-45, in the first round of the Palatine Regional tourney Monday night.

Schaumburg, down by three points with :30 left, got an important bucket by junior John Moran to cut the gap to 45-44 before Chmiel pulled down a rebound when Hoffman's John Staback missed the second of two free throw attempts at :13.

CHMIEL OUTLETTED to sophomore Gary Deigan, who passed the ball back to Chmiel. The 6-7 junior center dribbled to the left of the free throw lane and put up a low, flat jump shot that grazed the back of the rim before swishing through for the winning points.

"That was great," said Chmiel who also broke up Hoffman's desperation inbound pass at the very end. "It's about time it went in."

Although he was Schaumburg's high scorer with 17 points, Chmiel had only five in the second half. Picking up the slack was Moran, who finished with 14, and junior guard Jack Breen who had 10. And George Tuzil had three big points right at the end for the Sa-

"Guard play was the difference said Saxon coach Joe Breault, whose team now faces Fremd Wednesday. "Deigan and Breen both played really well."

HOFFMAN, WHICH closed at 11-14, was led by Joe Tully's 19 points and Ron Warring's 14. The two towering Hawks were instrumental in erasing an 11-point Schaumburg lead that became a 43-40 Hoffman edge with 1:04 left when Staback drove the lane for After Tuzil hit from underneath on a pass from Moran, Staback plunked in two free throws at :30 to restore Hoffman's lead to 45-42, and it looked hopeless for the Saxons.

"It's incredible how things turned around at the end," said Breault, whose Saxons are now 6-20. "I was really hanny to see the way the kids

Moran's 15-footer cut the lead to one, the Saxons got the ball back and Chmiel worked his magic.

Hersey decks Prospect

by KEITH REINHARD

A skirmish near game's end nearly spoiled Hersey's regional tournament debut but the Huskies held on to prevail over Prospect 62-55 in the Forest View gym Monday night.

Hersey will now meet Arlington in Wednesday's first semifinal contest at 7 p.m.

The Huskies sailed into the last minute of play owning a six-point advantage and padded it with a pair of free throws as the clock ticked down to 27 seconds.

BUT AT :18 THE sparks began to fly. A scuffle on the floor emptied both benches. When the dust had settled the Knights had six cracks from the free throw line (followed by two for Hersey) and a golden opportunity to bail out a lost cause.

The comeback never materialized, however, and Mark Miesfeldt later hit a pair of free pitches to cement the

"I really thought we were in trouble long before the fight broke out," sighed Hersey coach Roger Steingraber following the game. "We had three players going with four fouls, having problems boarding with Prospect, couldn't pull them out of their zone defense and had already thrown away a couple of leads earlier in the game."

Through all the difficulties rolled T. R. Frye, Gary Meyer and Miesfeldt.

Frye sparked the fast break Huskie offense by assisting on nine scoring plays and chipped in eight points as MEYER, MEANWHILE, came off the bench to add eight more points to the cause and at 6-7 was able to counter some of Prospect's rebound punch underneath.

Miesfeldt displayed his usual soft touch from the baseline. Two of his buckets came during an eight point rally in the second period that allowed the Huskies a 32-24 halftime lead.

The Knights countered in the third period behind Dave LaCosse and pulled within two, 45-43, by the buzzer. Then Miesfeldt struck again on a feed from Frye and Todd Walker followed up with a layup to widen the gap to six.

Halfway through the last quarter Hersey pulled Prospect out of their zone by passing around the corners. When the Knights began pressing it allowed some daylight near the basket but the Huskies missed one crib and had traveling called on another.

IN BOTH CASES LaCosse came down the court and connected on inside shots. Then Andy Loos drove for a layup to draw the Knights within two again at the three minute mark.

Walker hit a pair of layups after that, one on a pass from Jim Thomas and the other aided by Frye. That appeared to put the game out of reach ... until the melee began.

Falcons advance over rallying Wheeling, 71-62

by JEFF NORDLUND

Forest View frittered away a 17point third quarter lead, but hung on to eliminate Wheeling 71-62 in a first round match at the Forest View Regional tournament Monday:

With just over four minutes to play, Wheeling had whittled the once-secure Falcon lead to just four points at 54-50. But that was as close as the Wildcats got, Forest View pulling ahead again while Wheeling starters Jim Lockefeer and Ken Paulus fouled out.

The Falcons will play St. Viator in the second game of Wednesday's action, following the Hersey-Arlington match which begins at 7 p.m.

RICK GARDNER and Jeff Martinski provided most of the scoring for the Falcons, who stayed with their starting five nearly the entire game. Gardner hit a blistering nine-for-12 from the field and finished with 22 points. Martinski was close behind with 21 points.

At one point of the third quarter, Tournament Monday night. Forest View led Wheeling 48-31, but did not score again until Wheeling had closed to 48-42.

"I think the kids let up when we had the big lead," Forest View coach Ted Wissen said afterward. "Wheeling started coming at us, and they changed the tempo of the game on

"But whenever we play a team we match up against in size, we do very well," the coach said. "It happened tonight."

WHEELING, as short as Forest View, also relied on outside shooting frequently - a good deal of that coming from Jim Lockefeer and Brian Begrowicz. Lockefeer spirited the second-half comeback, ending the night with 21 points.

Begrowicz scored the first seven Wheeling points en route to a 19-point

Forest View committed just eight fouls to Wheeling's 20, allowing the Falcons to outscore the Wildcats 13-2 at the free-throw line.

After playing Wheeling nearly even through the first quarter, Forest View burst past its opponent to take a 34-25 lead by halftime. Gardner helped the first-half surge by the Falcons by hitting his first six shots.

The win boosted the Falcons' record to 9-15, and Wheeling concluded its season with a 6-18 mark. The winners of Wednesday's contest will meet in the regional final Friday.

"Conant hasn't won a lot of games." said Palatine coach Ed Molitor, "but Dick (Redlinger) has his pride and so do his kids.

"WE TRIED TO get different kids in there and give them tournament experience." Palatine ripped the game open in the first period when they led 6-0 and 8-2 before extending their advantage to 16-5 at the end of the period. Chris Plazak, the Pirates 6-1 junior copperhead guard, got six of his team high 17 points in the first quarter.

Two of Plazak's buckets came off passes from senior center Doug Buenzow and 6-7 Kevin McKenna set up two more buckets with deft feeds.

Conant (3-18) hurt themselves early, missing six of seven free throws and blowing high percentage shots.

Late surge lifts Kentucky

LEXINGTON, Ky. — Second-ranked Kentucky, paced by Rick Robey's 20 points, reeled off 12 straight points late in the second half to defeat Mississippi State, 77-64, in a Southeastern Conference game Monday night.

Kentucky, in winning its 14th straight, trailed 57-56 with 6:32 left in the game before scoring 12 straight points to take a 68-57 lead with 2:52

Robey scored four points and reserve James Lee, who had 14 in the game, also had four points in that spurt.

The victory, Kentuckey's 23rd in 25 games this year, kept them atop the SEC with a 15-1 record and set up their showdown Saturday with secondplace Tennessee.

Mississippi State, which fell to 13-12 overall and 5-11 in the league, was led by freshman Ricky Brown with 17 points.

IOWA TOPS HOOSIERS

IOWA CITY, Iowa - Brice King scored 28 points and pulled down 15 rebounds in his final home game to lead Iowa to an 80-73 Big Ten victory over Indiana Monday night.

It was Iowa's first victory over Indiana since 1970 and moved the Hawkeyes back into fourth place in the conference standings. Iowa improved its record to 8-8 in the Big Ten and 16-9 overall. Indiana fell to 8-9 and 13-13.

Freshman Mike Woodson of Indiana led all scorers with 34 points and was the only Hoosier in double figures.

MSU TIPS OHIO ST.

EAST LANSING, Mich. - Guard Bob Chapman scored a career-high 29 points to lead Michigan State to a 80-79 Big Ten basketball win over Ohio State Monday night in the final home game of the season.

Michigan State forward Greg Kelser had 20 points and nine rebounds.

Michigan State improved its conference record to 6-10 and 9-16 overall, while Ohio State sunk to 4-13 in the Big Ten and 9-18 on the year.

Larry Bolden finished with 21 points

for Ohio State. DEPAUL CLUBS VALPO

De Paul increased its record to 15-11 Monday night with an 88-72 win over the visiting Valparaiso University Crusaders.

De Paul opened up an 18-point lead 16:46 into the first half, with the score 42-24, and coasted the rest of the way to the win. All 10 players on De Paul's roster saw action in the game.

SIKMA CANS 30

BLOOMINGTON, Ill. - Jack Sikma scored 30 points, making all 16 of his free throws, to lead Illinois Wesleyan past Olivet Nazarene 91-71 Monday night in the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics District 20 basketball semifinal game.

Illinois Weleyan, seeking its third straight trip to the national tournament at Kansas City next week, will play Quincy College Wednesday night in the District final. Quincy defeated McKendree 73-72 Monday night at Lebanon, Ill.

Illinois Wesleyan jumped to a 24-11 lead in the first nine minutes of the game and retained control throughout. Sikma grabbed 17 of the Titans 48 rebounds. The Titans led 46-32 at the

Hassan punches trail to Silver Gloves title

With a crushing second-round knockout over Detroit foe Mike Hassan of the Mount Prospect Park District Boxing Club captured the National Silver Gloves Championship in Davenport, Ia., Sunday night.

The 13-year-old Des Plaines resident dominated the national elimination bouts culminating in the 147-pound weight class championship, the first for a Mt. Prospect Park District fighter since the program was initiated 21/2 years ago.

The previous week Hassan took the Illinois Silver Gloves Championship in Pekin.

THE FIRST ROUND of the national championship match got off to a cautious start with both fighters exchanging jabs and hooks as they jockeyed for position.

In the second round Hassan staggered his opponent with a hard right driving him into the ropes. Hassan then followed up with a hard left hook to the body and a right to the head which ended the fight.

"I knew right from the start that Mike was championship material," exclaimed Mt. Prospect Park District head coach and proud father of the champ, Farouk Hassan, himself a former professional fighter.

"He has all the moves and the power necessary to deliver the big punch. There was never any doubt in my mind that we had a national champion in Mike," the elder Hassan said.

FIGHTERS representing the state of Illinois also captured the team trophy over second-place Michigan and third-place Nebras-

Other Mt. Prospect Park District fighters, who distinguished themselves throughout the elimination tournament but did not place, were Joe Burdi in the 80pound class and Dan Sloan in the 119-pound class.

NO. 500. The Black Hawks' Stan Mikita poses with the puck that scored the 500th goal of his National Hockey League career Sunday night at the Stadium. The goal came in the third period with 6:04 left in the game with the Vancouver Canucks, who beat the Hawks. Mikita, an 18 year NHL veteran, becomes the eighth player in league history to score 500 goals.

Unsigned Kingman reports for camp

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. - Dave Kingman, hitting one long drive over the left center field fence to prove he has not lost his skills, followed his first workout with the New York Mets Monday by meeting with General Manager Joe McDonald. He came away still unsigned.

As gracious as he has ever been in a 20 minute meeting with the press, the former Prospect prep star said it is his hope to be signed by the end of spring training. He added that "I hope to hit 50 home runs this year. I think I am capable of that."

Kingman refused to discuss any salary figures with newsmen, insisting "that is my private business."

The Met's No. 1 slugger, who slammed 37 home runs last year, is reportedly asking for $3 million. On that, a reported $1 million would be in the form of a bonus to signing.

Kingman said he has every desire to play for the New York Mets and has no intention of playing out his option if he does not sign for 1977. But he refused to rule out that possibility. "I was raised in California and eventually I would like to go back there." Kingman said. "I am single and I have no ties. There is nothing to prevent me from picking up and going."

Kingman also said that although he has not brought an agent into his negotiations so far he has advised the Mets of that possibility in the event the salary negotiations drag on.

With the arrival of Kingman and Felix Millan, the entire Mets squad was in camp one day before the official March 1 reporting date. All players are signed with the exception of Kingman and

Final briefs filed in Finley suit

Post trial briefs and proposed findings of fact were filed Monday in U.S. District Court in Chicago on behalf of Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn and Oakland A's owner Charles O. Finley, setting the stage for a final decision on Finley's $3.5 million damage suit by Judge Frank J. McGarr.

Testimony in the suit ended in mid-January and McGarr, ordering both sides to file final papers Monday, said he would hand down his decision "as soon as possible."

The suit was filed because Kuhn voided Finley's sale of outfielder Joe Rudi and pitchers Rollie Fingers and Vida Blue to the Boston Red Sox and New York Yankees for $3.5 million. Finley charged the action exeeded the commissioner's authority and was "capricious and arbitrary."

Braves' board votes to defy Kuhn

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. - The Atlanta Braves announced Monday they will seek a court injunction against baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn in an effort to block the year-long suspension of Braves owner Ted Turner and the loss of their first-round choice in the June free-agent draft.

The Braves board of directors notified Kuhn that they had met, with Turner absent, and, determining that his rulings "are totally unfounded," instructed its attorneys "to file for appropriate redress."

Kuhn suspended Turner for a year and ordered the loss of the draft choice for statements Turner made to San Francisco Giants owner Bob Lurie in New York on Oct. 20 in connection with his plans for signing Giants outfielder Gary Matthews as a fre agent.

Lurie complained to Kuhn that Turner told him, "You have really made me mad and I'll do everything I can to sign Matthews. I'll go as high as I have to."

Barons end skid with win over Blues

ST. LOUIS — The Cleveland Barons broke a seven-game winless streak Monday night with a 5-2 victory over the St. Louis Blues. The Barons Ralph Klassen scored the winning goal on a 40foot shot on a power play at 8:51 in the second period and Bob

Girard added an insurance goal later in the period. Cleveland's Dennis Maruk had scored in the first period. Al

MacAdam scored the Barons' second goal at 3:04 of the second period, on a shot from the slot after a quick pass from Maruk. Bob Murdoch added the last Cleveland goal in the final period.

Cleveland goalie Gilles Meloche shutout the Blues until Red Berenson's goal at 2:49 of the third period. Ted Irvine scored for St. Louis later in the period.

Dons still on top on college cage poll

NEW YORK - The University of San Francisco retained its No. 1 ranking Monday and can clinch the national college basketball championship with a victory at Notre Dame Saturday.

A San Francisco triumph also would establish a school record of 30-0 for a regular season. They hold the current mark of 29-0 with the Bill Russell-led title team of 1955-56.

The Dons collected 34 first place votes and 384 points from the UPI coaches board this week for a comfortable lead over second place Kentucky, which drew first place mention from four coaches

Michigan, the only other school to receive a first place vote, retained third place on 294 points, but UCLA jumped from sixth to fourth with 224. North Carolina advanced three rungs to fifth place on 193 points, while Nevada-Las Vegas dropped from fourth to sixth with 184.

Arkansas remained seventh with 140 points. There was a considerable point difference with the eighth place team as Providence managed 64 on a climb from 12th place. Louisville rose a notch to No. 9 on 63 points and Tennessee dropped five places to No. 10 on

Bison face giant-killers tonight

by ART MUGALIAN

Schramm. "We wanted to play them last year - we had scouted them and everything, knowing we'd see them in the regional. But we lost to Carmel we got caught looking the other way."

Buffalo Grove could be in danger of short-sightedness if the Bison happened to look past Highland Park tonight. Coach Paul Grady has been saying for weeks that his major concern was Deerifeld, which will play Lake Forest in Wednesday's game.

"We're excited about playing Buffalo Grove," said Schramm. "We've got the same kind of record we had five years ago when we played Waukegan - and we beat them. We're gonna go over there and give it our best. We're at our peak right

is averaging about 15 points per

"We're small, we're 6-1," said Schramm. "To look at Buffalo Grove you'd think we have no chance. But I like to tell the kids that the ball is on the ground a lot - look how much closer to the ball we are.

"We feel we shoot well and we play good defense," the Highland Park coach added. "Maine East was a big team and we beat them, so we're not that worried about Buffalo Grove's size. If we're ahead in the first quarter, it'll be a donnybrook. The first quarter, it'll be a donnybrook. The first quarter's the most important."

The Bison, riding a 20-game winning streak that is the longest ever in the Herald area, will take the first step on what Grady hopes is a trip to Champaign for the Elite Eight quarterfinals Mar. 18-19.

"WE THOUGHT we'd get farther last year," said-Grady after his team had captured the Mid-Suburban title with a 69-55 win over Rolling Meadows last Wednesday. "This year our goal is to go downstate."

The Bison's only loss this year was a 54-53, setback at Hoffman Estates in December when Brian Allsmiller sat

All-stater Allsmiller, Buffalo Grove's top scorer with a 20.9 per game average, needs just 14 points to reach 2,000 in his four-year varsity career. And Highland Park coach Schramm woild like to make tonight's game the last in Allsmiller's prep ca-

"WE'RE LOOKING forward to this game," said Schramm. "Like Al McGuire says, the most important tournament game is the first one."

Tonight's winner plays in the finals Friday against either Deerfield or Lake Forest.

St. Michael High School, Illinois' No. 1-ranked Class A team for the regular season, Tuesday will seek an injunction that would put the team back into the state basketball tourna-

The petition will seek to defer tonight's scheduled Class A sectional tournament game between Walther Lutheran, conqueror of St. Michael in the regional finals last Friday, and Amboy at Somonauk.

Warriors Coach Jim Roberts said the decision to file suit was made by St. Michael co-principal Brother Edwin Johnson after the Illinois High School Assn. rejected an appeal by the school to correct the final score of the game with Walter Lutheran.

THE OFFICIAL score was 67-66 for Walther Lutheran, but Roberts contended a scorekeeping error gave Walther an illegal basket and that St. Michael actually won 66-65.

Roberts appeared Monday at a hearing on his protest at the IHSA after which Executive Secretary Harry Fitzhugh ruled against St. Michael and said the score would stand. He ruled the "running score" of the game should stand.

"They told us it looks like you won," Roberts said, "but you lost."

When informed of the decision by Roberts, Brother Edwin said, in effect, "Charge!" Roberts said. "He told us to go after it."

The school has retained John A. Grivetti, Putnam County state's attorney, to file the suit, and Roberts said "he'll probably come to Chicago to file it, although he said you could sue the IHSA anywhere."

PLAINTIFFS IN the suit, Roberts said, would include himself, four of his players, Jasper McElroy, Earl Dunn, John Owens and Vernon Cannon, and the school.

"We'll probably just seek an injunction to hold off the Walther Lutheran-Amboy game," Roberts said, "not the whole Class A tournament. We'll try to get an early decision and meanwhile just sit back and see what happens."

Roberts said St. Michael's suit would be based entirely on basketball rules which read that a team wins by the cumulative score in the score-books. "All three scorebooks showed the score 66-65 St. Michael," he said.

He also said that the rules permit the running score to be valid only when an error cannot be found which would change it.

"We can find the error," he said, "and show it to them."

THE INCIDENT resulted from a tipin basket by Jim Sampson for Walther at the end of the first half. The basket, Roberts contended, came after time ran out, but the timer's gun misfired twice and went off on the third trial so that officials were not aware time had expired. The basket was counted, but on instructions of the officials, it was removed from the scorebook. Roberts said the running score was never changed. At the end of the game, while th€ scorebooks showed St. Michael the winner 66-65, the scoreboard and running total showed Walter Lutheran ahead 67-66.

"The scorekeeper arbitrarily credited a basket to Solomon Smith after the game was over and the officials had left the floor in order to make the cumulative total in the book agree with the running total," Roberts said.

Mushrooms grow fastest in damp areas

Andy sends the Encyclopaedia Britannica's 1977 Yearbook of Science and the Future to Jeff King, 7, of Huntsville, Ala., for his question:

WHAT MAKES MUSHROOMS GROW SO FAST?

Most mushrooms look like tiny umbrellas. Since they do not have chlorophyll, they must get their food from other living or dead plants.

On a mushroom cap's underside are little folds which are called gills. These contain spores, the minute cells that grow into more mushrooms. Warm, damp places offer the most favorable spot for mushroom growth.

Mushrooms are fast-growing plants by nature. Overnight, full-grown plants can break through the earth and reach full size. They have tremendous force, too. # Is it true what they say about shampoos?

by BARBARA LADD

Don't feel too badly if you've been tempted into the "garden of earthly delights" or lured by the desire to smell like an avocado (or strawberry . . . or green apple . . . or peach . . . ).

Shopping the shampoo shelves isn't easy these days. Besides the magical advertisements for luscious, shining tresses, there are claim of pH-balanced formulas, balsams, proteins and mixtures "specially-made" for dry, normal or oily hair.

And with more than 650 shampoos now on the American market, it's a wonder more consumers haven't given up the shampoo hunt completely and returned to grandma's bar of soap and rain water.

"Finding a good shampoo is a great deal of trial and error," admitted Doris Sandor, co-owner of the Arlington Academy of Beauty in Arlington Heights. Apparently she's right.

A study of Consumer's Union last year revealed that nearly every shampoo contained a lot of water, detergent, foaming agents, fragrance and "an imaginative variety of other stuff of little or no value except as selling points."

RESEARCHERS FOR THE study gave test samples of 70 common shampoos to a panel of 217 men and women and asked the panelists to use each sample for two weeks, following their normal haircare routines. The brand names were withheld from the panelists.

No conclusions could be drawn, according to Consumer Reports (November 1976). Shampoos with proteins, balsams or pH-balanced formulas were judged no better or worse than those without. And shampoos rated high by women were on the bottom of the men's lists.

"Hair care is an extremely personalized matter," said Ms. Sandor. "Dry hair, or hair that has been tinted, differs completely from oily hair, and a shampoo which will clean one might damage the

She continued: "Baby shampoo is a relatively harsh shampoo even if it doesn't hurt your eyes. But some people swear by it."

Mario Tricoci, owner of Tricoci Hair Salon in Woodfield Mall, agrees. "When you want your hair really clean, what do you use?" he asked. "Baby shampoo, of course. But that doesn't mean it's good for your hair all of the time," he added hastily.

THE pH QUALITIES of a shampoo are also just as personalized - and quite a bit more publicized, says

The pH is a means of expressing acidity or alkalinity. Something neutral (not acid, not alkaline) will have a pH of seven. Acids have lower pH values and those above seven are alkaline. Hand soaps have a pH around nine, but since human skin and hair are on the acid side, some manufacturers would have you believe shampoos with low pH values are more gentle than those like the baby shampoos.

"Almost all shampoos are between a pH of five and a pH of eight or nine," chuckled Tricoci. "And in most cases that difference just isn't enough to get excited about."

What does make a difference, said Ms. Sandor, is how well you rinse your hair and the condition your

"The dirt and oil come out of the hair when you rinse it, not when you lather up. If you don't rinse the shampoo out completely, you're hair is dull and lifeless. But that's not the shampoo's fault," she

"CONDITIONING IS ALSO important," she said. "Conditioners add moisture to your hair, making it easier to manage and prettier to look at. But a conditioner is not a shampoo, and it's hard to make one product do two different things."

So if you're having a problem with your hair, shop the shampoo shelves, said Ms. Sandor. It's not an expensive habit — most shampoos cost between 15 and 25 cents an ounce - and you may stumble upon a brand which suits the condition of your hair, be it dry, oily or tinted.

"Just remember," warned Ms. Sandor, "if you want to have beautiful hair and nature doesn't give it to you, neither will the shampoo."

Terry a fashion fabric

by ELLIE GROSSMAN

The terry cloth division of Cannon Mills, Inc. (which occupies a floor in the Time and Life Bulding) consists of one office divided in two by a partition.

In the larger space sits Harry A. Gillman, manager, a sturdy man with admirable lungs.

It is his custom to bellow through the partition to Betty Schneider, his assistant, a sliver of a silver-haired lady with whom we were talking, Gillman being engaged at the moment with a visitor.

We were investigating terry cloth, which has advanced insidiously, like a creature in a Japanese science fiction

First, it was toaster covers, robes, towels and bath slippers. But that wasn't enough. Terry reached out to the patio, the tennis court, the beach, and now — is there no stopping it? it's extending its little loops to whateverwear: skirts, tops, jumpsuits, whatever you're inclined to wear.

IT SHOULD BE mentioned that a few days before, we'd spoken with Bob Mouakad, president of Lisanne, a ladies loungewear firm which is branching out into attractive terry playclothes, from $14-35, in junior sizes and petite, small, medium and Mouakad is doing that because "terry cloth has become very big in our industry. It's absorbent and practical - machine washable - and when you bland polyester and acrylic, you get bright colors which I like."

What exactly is terry cloth, we asked, and Mouakad said he honestly couldn't answer a technical question like that, except to say it's a knitted

Which is why we were sitting with Betty Schneider at Cannon Mills, a large supplier of terry cloth.

She picked up another swatch. "This knitted terry is flat on one side - as I said, woven terry has loops on both sides. This drapes easier, which is why it's used extensively for sportswear, women's robes, etc."

GILLMAN'S VISITOR left just as we said, but what does "terry" come from, what does it mean, and she called over to him, how would you define terry cloth?

"Terry was the first true no-iron fabric and still is," he yelled.

"We also make frosty terry," she resumed, offering a pink and white (Continued on Page 2)

Fortunately, designers have become more aware of the young-minded older man and are creating up-dated styling for him that's fit to wear.

The designers for Foxfire, as an example, are putting emphasis on related sportswear. They have designed fitting, elbow-patched pullover sport tops, with slacks featuring flapped change pockets and "D-ring" side tabs to wear with it. They also have shapely brushed-cotton patch pocket blazers which can be teamed with patch-pocketed sport vest and slacks.

Today, even if a man has lost his youthful build, chances are good that he can still take on a young look.

Look smart

Dear Mr. Juster: My husband bought a beautiful gray herringbone suit and I got him two lovely striped ties to wear with it. To my surprise, he insists they don't go with the suit because herringbones have a striped look and a striped shirt would make the outfit look to "stripey." Can this be right? — Mrs. E.G.L.

A. Striped shirts taboo with herringbone suits? That's news to me. First of all, a herringbone is a broken vertical weave, not actually a stripe. But even if he insists it's in the stripe family, point cut to him that striped shirts and suits are fine if in different

Dear Mr. Juster: Thinking it would be a good idea, I applied a water proofing oil to a new pair of shoes. I'm sorry I did, because now they won't take a shine. Can you suggest anything to remedy this. — S.F.

A. Applying saddle soap is your best bet. Rub in well, then wash off. Repeat this process. According to a shoe cleaning expert, if there is any chance of restoring these shoes to their original condition, this should do it.

Younger consumers like Carmen's canvas bags

by ELLIE GROSSMAN

A handbag can be covered with gold braid, monograms and flashing lights that spell out "I Am Woman."

But if it doesn't have a hanging pocket inside, says Carmen Sugarman, it's not going to sell.

Mrs. Sugarman, who designs for Victoria handbags, the "most successful canvas bag house in the country," should know.

Working with different weights of canvas, she creates two or three collections a year, 60 bags to a collection, and she thinks it's a snap.

"Actually, it's the little touches that change, the color, the darting, striping the canvas which I'm doing for spring. After all, how different can you be with a handbag?"

WELL, YOU CAN take a canvas tote bag and give it the look of a handbag. Make it a little shaplier, put a zipper on top, add gussets that expand, darting here and pockets there and maybe straps that snap in and out and change a shoulder bag into an attache case.

That's what Mrs. Sugarman began doing for Victoria's tote bags when she joined the company three years she says, that her styles are copied by the higher priced leather houses.

But there's little danger of their stealing her customer, who is generally 22 to 35 and used to schlep a raggedy carryall with her jeans.

Now, she says, "that customer relates very well to fabric. She likes natural fiber. She doesn't want vinyl and she doesn't want to spend $50 for a leather handbag she may not want to wear next year."

SHE'S CONTENT to get a year's wear out of one goodlooking canvas bag - or two or three - that she spent $13-28 for.

And if she takes care, it can live longer. "All our bags can be dry cleaned unless they have vinyl or jute in them. And a solid color bag can be washed. If there's a dark trim, however, the color will run.

"We're hoping to make bag tags in the future with cleaning instructions," she continues, "but it's very costly right now and the consumer would ultimately pay. Every bag is different. you see, so we can't use one standard tag. But in time we might be able to absorb the cost."

"I have tremendous compassion for the consumer," she adds, "because ago, and she has been so successful, she's clicked every which way and that's one reason I didn't want to be a fashion designer."

A COUPLE OF YEARS on Seventh Avenue after graduating from the Traphagen School of Design in 1955 were enough for her. "I found the industry very difficult for my temperament and personality. I always felt as if I was walking on eggs, so I stopped designing and stayed home for eight

Then, three or four years ago, she designed some jute bags to match some hats seh'd made, and decided it was time to enter another facet of the

"Joe Moskowitz, president of Victoria, liked what I'd done and I joined the company. The support I get from him is really vital, and the concern we give our bags is the concern a top fashion house might give to its mer-

Her concern and pride are personal as well as professional. Carmen Maria Rosario Irizarry (Sugarman) from Puerto Rico is a successful Puerto Rican in an industry where her people have done little more than push garment racks through the streets.

SHE'S NOT SURE if it's a case of discrimination or not. "I was always accepted on the surface because I'm very fair skinned and I didn't cause any problems. So it wasn't bad for me. But I'm Puerto Rican inside and out and I did feel insecure - whether that was something I created or there was a reason for it, I don't know."

Things are better now, she says. "If you're professional and hardworking and well prepared, there shouldn't be any problem anymore."

And if you're a woman to boot, you've got it made in handbags.

"Most of the designers in the business are men and they're looking for women handbag designers because a woman will incorporate something a little more feminine in her styles.'

TAKE, FOR EXAMPLE, the adjustable straps that snap in and out of some of her bags. "If you're going to use the bag as a shoulder bag, you have to allow room under the straps for a coat. That's why most straps are too short. A man doesn't carry a shoulder bag, so how would he DESIGNER'S MESSAGE! Designer Maxine de La Falaise and her designer daughter Lou Lou, two of the most important "trend" setters in the world of fashion, have decided that the "natural" way is the easiest. They now wear their hair the way it comes out of the shower. Cut short, they just "push" the hair back while wet so the natural curl comes out and give it a quick comb in front to straighten it. They report it gives them more time and more freedom. A very 1977 way to look at fashion. Now New York G.J.L.

Benefits of wine drinking are few

Please explain the benefits of drinking a glass of wine each day. I have heard this will prevent a person from ever having hardening of the arteries in old age. Is this fact or fiction?

Fiction. Other than the pleasure a person derives from it there are no real benefits from drinking a glass of wine. It may make some people feel more relaxed and at peace with the world, but even that idea has been challenged. It helps improve some people's appetite and if a person needs that effect, it might be used in that regard. Most people need just the opposite. A glass of only four or five ounces of table wine is equivalent to a can of beer or one cocktail. Dessert wine is stronger by a good deal. So wine tends to give a person quite a bit of alcohol and should be regarded as a potent alcoholic drink.

So you can evaluate the effects of a glass of wine on the body I am sending you The Health Letter number 1-4, Alcohol, Whiskey, Gin, Vodka, Rum, Wine, Beer. Others who want this information can send 50 cents for it with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to the address given below.

Please tell us in your column how much daily wine and beer consumption is too much. My husband, who is 65, drinks a fifth of wine each day and a large can of beer. I am very concerned that he may be on the way to becoming an alcoholic. He is a chain smoker, very nerouvs, and has not had a medical checkup in many years.

Your husband is already an alcoholic. I am sending you The Health Letter on alcohol that I mentioned to the other reader. He must be getting more than three ounces of alcohol a day or the equivalent of more than six cocktails, perhaps much more if he is drinking dessert wines. Think of a four-ounce glass of table wine as being equivalent to a cocktail. A can of beer is also equivalent to a cocktail as usually mixed.

In addition to knowing about the effects of alcohol you need to see if you can get your husband some help. With his smoking history he is more than three times as likely to have a heart attack or a stroke as non-smokers. His chances of cancer of the lung have been increased. Alcohol and tobacco together increase the chances of cancer. He may have liver disease from chronic use of alcohol.

You should check the yellow pages of your telephone book under Alcohol or Alcoholism Information. If your community has any organizations that can give you advice they may help you. There is an Al-Anon organization for relatives of alcoholics which may give you advice on how to help your husband. It would be nice if he would go to a doctor and perhaps he will if you arrange it for

Meanwhile try to keep him on a good nutritious diet and give him a daily all-purpose vitamin tablet. That will not solve his problem though; he needs professional help to get off the bottle, and hopefully, he can also get off the cigarets.

Walnut scratch trick takes delicate touch

Dear Dorothy: Had some small scratches on my cherrywood table and as I'd read somewhere that the meat of a walnut rubbed into such a scratch would help, I did this. Now I can't get rid of the spots made by the walnut meat. Please help, if you can. -Mrs. Frank Hyer

Walnut meat is an old-time method and calls for the most delicate of touches. It may be that you applied too much pressure when you used it. It may call for professional help, but first you might try applying a tiny bit of iodine, or a regular almond stick, or even some of the stain (made in many colors) which comes in tubes or tiny jars. There is also the home remedy of two-thirds cup of boiled linseed oil to one-third cup of vinegar. (The linseed oil comes boiled from the factory, you know.)

Dear Dorothy: When there are lumps in the gravy, it's easy to get rid of them by pouring the gravy through a strainer into the serving dish. Also, would like to suggest for those mothers or grandmothers who sew for little ones that they use sheet blankets to make sleepers. They are cheaper than regular flannel and make warmer garments. - Laura Pemberton

Dear Dorothy: Readers might like a sandwich filling the young ones in my family go for big. I add one heaping teaspoon mayonnaise to four ounces softened cream cheese, then add about 8 or 10 chopped, pitted green olives. A fork makes it easily spreadable. - Erica Wilder

Dear Dorothy: Here's a useful tip: I forgot a lemon on the counter and when it came time to use it, it was all dried up. Put it in a pan of boiling water for a few minutes and it was fine for juice. - Edna Jacobsen

(Mrs. Ritz welcomes questions and hints. If a personal reply is required, please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Write to Dorothy Ritz in care of Suburban Living, Paddock Publications, Box 280, Arlington Heights, Ill. 60006.)

Women join global prayer chain

This year marks the 90th anniversary of World Day of Prayer, the most widely observed ecumenical celebration sponsored by Church Women United, a movement in which Protestant. Roman Catholic and Orthodox women all over the world express their unity.

The anniversary will be marked this Friday beginning at dawn in the tropical islands of the Pacific. By nightfall, millions of persons in 170 countries will have joined in the program. Each year the services are planned by women from a different part of the world and then translated and adapted to meet individual needs of each participating country. This year's theme, "Love in Action," was prepared by women in the German Democratic Republic.

Locally, services will be held in Des Plaines, Schaumburg, Buffalo Grove, Palatine and Arlington Heights.

DES PLAINES Church Women United has planned a service for 9:30 a.m. in Christ Church, Cora and Henry Streets. Featured will be Gene Freeman, director of development and community education, and Marcia Logan, coordinator of volunteers at Clearbrook Center. They will present a slide presentation depicting how Clearbrook serves the Northwest suburbs. A potluck luncheon will be served at 11:30 a.m.

In Schaumburg the service will be held in St. Marcelline Church, 822 S. Springinsguth Rd. at 9:30 a.m.

Kingswood Methodist Church, 401 W. Dundee Rd., Buffalo Grove, will have services at 10 a.m. with the

Schaumburg AAUW conducting survey of nursery schools

The pre-school study group of Schaumburg Branch, American Association of University Women, is taking a survey of more than 50 nursery schools in the area and will make results available to the public in a booklet form next fall.

The survey was undertaken because there is no such nursery school resource currently available.

Study group members believe a school should be chosen on the basis of the parents' own philosophy and not on the basis of convenient carpooling or cost. They have been visiting each school individually, compiling information about the school and its curriculum. However, no evaluation of the schools will be included.

Application has been made for an AAUW community service project grant for the survey, but contributions are welcome. Persons wanting more information may call Margi Spair, 830-1256, Connie Goede, 884-0254, or Harolyn Ropp, 885-0175.

'Minstrel Man' show to dispel myths

"Minstrel Man" may well be CBS' answer to ABC's phenomenally successful "Roots." Both stories attempt to show the black man's search for his own dignity.

But "Minstrel Man" picks up in the stream of American history where "Roots" left off - right after the Civil War and the abolition of slavery when discrimination against blacks continued and the only acceptable entertainment outlet for the Negro was the traveling minstrel show.

The image that comes to mind most often at the mention of minstrel shows is the "Swanee" singing Al Jolson. But, "Minstrel Man" seeks to dispel the many generalities and misconceptions most Americans have about minstrels.

THIS POWERFUL DRAMA goes beyond the greasepaint blacks had to wear to perform, and examines the emotional struggle of the entertainers.

Viewers are bound to learn something from the two-hour special, sponsored by the Mobil Oil Co., at 8 p.m. Wednesday on Channel 2.

"It is a little known fact," says the show's producer Bob Lovenheim "but the black men then imitated the whites who were imitating the blacks. The blacks put white greasepaint around their lips and eyes, and black on their skin to make themselves even darker. In the 19th Century, that was the only way black entertainers were allowed to perform."

To accurately create the days of the minstrel shows, which eventually gave way to the American sounds of ragtime and vaudeville, black performers sing songs such as "I Wish I was the Man in the Moon Rather than a Coon, Coon, Coon" and "Two New Coons in Town," disgusting parodies white audiences came in droves to hear.

FRED KARLIN composed the music in this fictional drama. He combined his music with real minstrel songs preserved from the acts of white performers in the North who gave birth to "black face" in days before the Civil War by applying burnt cork to their faces.

The story, filmed in Mississippi, centers around two brothers, born into a minstrel black family, who grow up to seek contrasting creative outlets.

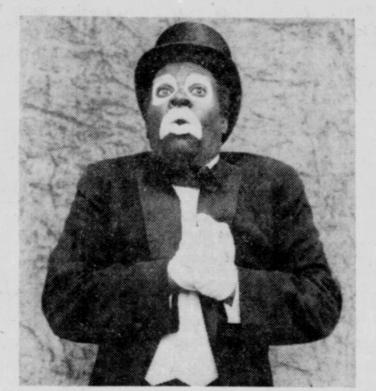

The older brother, Harry Brown Jr. (played by Glynn Turman of "Cooley High" fame is ambitious and willing to survive any way he can. His dream is to one day own his own minstrel troupe and he finally does. His first love is to perform on stage despite having to degrade himself by wearing a black face and doing circus-like song and dance.

THE YOUNGER BROTHER, Rennie Brown, (played by Stanley Clay) is a free spirit and a quiet brooding storm of music seriousness and sophistication. He violently opposes the black face and views the minstrel show as entertainment manipulated by the avaricious white man.

The show opens as the boys' father dies on stage in the middle of the family's minstrel act. The incident remains imbedded in Rennie's mind and he becomes determined to compose his songs and play piano in New Orleans night clubs with dignity. His determination leads to his shocking lynching.

Rennie does not die in vain. His ethics are adopted by Harry, who eventually leads his troupe of artists through the streets of Chicago without black face, forcing the audiences to take them as they are, or not at all.

"IT'S A FAIRLY honest slice of minstrel life. I think it will be a revelation to a lot of people who don't know when, where, why and what minstrels were," said Ted Ross, who portrays Harry's unscrupulous business partner and whose music credits include playing the lion in the Broadway show "The Wiz," a black musical version of "The Wizard of Oz."

"MINSTREL MAN"

"The whites blackened up to preserve their superiority after the Civil War and to portray the blacks as less than human. The blacks had to blacken up to keep everyone from knowing they were black," Ross said.

"As a black entertainer today, I don't have to put on the black face because there were forerunners of my race in this profession who suffered the indignities of putting it on," he said.

Ross, whose performance in "Minstrel Man" is as convincing and enlightening as those of Turman and Clay, says the drama leaves the viewer with hope showing the minstrels have risen above injustice.

"As with a lot of things, it makes the viewer realize how far we've come today," he said, "and how far we still have to go."

Solti to lead symphony in TV concert tonight by DIANE MERMIGAS

One of the most enthralling armchair concerts to be brought via the television set into the American home will be aired today at 7 p.m. on Chan-

It is "Solti Conducts Wagner," a one-hour special in which Director Sir Georg Solti leads the Chicago Symphony Orchestra in some of Richard Wagner's finest works: the overture to "The Flying Dutchman" and to "Tannhauser"; the prelude and liebestod from "Tristan and Isolde" and the prelude to "Die Meistersinger."

It is only the second television appearance by the orchestra since 1951, which famed pianist Artur Rubinstein recently acknowledged as "the best in the world."

The concert was taped last June in Orchestra Hall by Unitel, a German production company, along with a Mendelssohn program which public broadcasting stations throughout the country broadcasted last December.

THE PROGRAM, sponsored by Kraft Inc., allows viewers to experience the drama and excitement of a live classical performance while offering something extra that cannot be appreciated in a concert hall. And that is the close relationship between Solti and the musicians highlighted through artistic closeups, wellscripted camera angles and split-second editing.

Humphrey Burton, director of the all-Wagner program, has a lot to do with the excellence of the show. He is one of Great Britain's most articulate stage figures and an expert at the specialized job of television music directing.

"Solti Conducts Wagner" joins a growing list of television classical concerts in the past several years, including Danny Kaye at the Metropolitan Opera in New York, Carol Burnett and Beverly Sills also at the Met, Mary Tyler Moore with the Bolshoi Ballet in Moscow and Bellini's "Norma," live from the La Scala Opera House in Milan.

The Solti program, which also will be televised at 1 p.m. Sunday, is a good opportunity for more Chicago area residents to become acquainted with the fine and highly acclaimed work of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra, the third oldest in the United States. It was formed in 1891 by Theodore Thomas.

Hungarian-born Solti has served as music director of the orchestra since 1969 and has achieved what many describe as one of the most successful marriages of a conductor and orchestra of our time. "Solti Conducts Wagner" will be simulcast on WFMT-FM, 98.7 tonight and Sunday.

Martin Milner shines in 'Clowns'

by LAURA SCHMALBACH

The Chateau Louise Resort Theatre inaugurated a new star system with its current production of "A Thousand Clowns." The management's reasoning is sound. Feature a talented actor like television's Martin Milner, and the audience's interest picks up.

But unfortunately, a star can't carry an entire show, and several weak supporting actors mar what would otherwise be a successful production.

Herb Gardner's 1962 comedy about a happy-go-lucky New York bachelor confronted with the formidable task of rearing a gifted 12-year-old nephew, provide some good lines and even better roles.

THE BEST PART goes to Milner, former star of "Route 66" and "Adam 12" who portrays Murray Brown, a wacky uncle who quits his job as a gag writer for a "Chuckles the Clown" show because he feels himself

Mid-week review

deteriorating to a subeten mentality. Whether he's chatting with the prerecorded weather lady or using a window to carry on a one-way conversation with his neighbors, Milner demonstrates a good sense of timing as the lovable nonconformist who believes "it's worth the extra effort to give the world a little goosing."

A little less professional in the timing department (but just as engaging) is 9-year-old Bob Ackerman as Murray's nephew Nick, the hamper to Murray's free-wheeling lifestyle. Already seen as a singer and dancer as well as an actor in several Chicagoarea productions, Bob does a good job portraying the brainy and not-so-naive kid who returns from a night at the neighbor's to casually inform Murray that "your work left her gloves here last night." The casualty of an unhappy marriage, Nick nevertheless manages to dig into his uncle's cluttered apartment and find a home.

Familial bliss is threatened, however, when two young social workers step in to check on Nick and investigate Murray's six-month string of unemployment checks.

Felice Pauley muffs a juicy part as Sandra Markowitz, a young, overlyeager do-gooder who can't seem to control things outside the classroom. On her first assignment with boyfriend and fellow case worker Albert Amundson (Rick Plastina) she becomes flustered by everything from Murray's unmade bed to 'a off-color doll whose strategic parts blink in the dark, but Pauley's Minnie Mouse voice does little to convince the audience of her character's confusion and naivete.

RICK PLASTINA, her straightlaced cohort, fares somewhat better as he watches his doting apprentice fall in love with the object of their investigation. Still, I found myself grimacing at his wooden delivery. What was a relatively small part should be injected with more vitality.

Jefferson Award nominee J. S. Joe Young perks up a relatively minor part as Murray's conservative brother, who tries to help him seek reality and a paycheck.

Rounding out the cast is George Gilbert as Leo Herman, the aging clown who doesn't get along with thet kids he tries desperately to entertain.

"A Thousand Clowns" does wind up to be an amusing show, thanks primarily to Milner's efforts and the play's dialogue. The comedy runs through March 31.

Black freshman rejected

Race led to sorority cut: student

WICHITA, Kan. (UPI) - At a Junction City, Kan., high school, Deb Edgerton was an honor student, a student council member and head baton

But the 18-year-old attractive freshman was rejected during rush, the sorority selection process, last month at the University of Kansas.

The reason, according to one sorority member, was because Miss Edgerton is black.

In a recent letter to the university student newspaper, Nancy Tollefson said members of her sorority had made such statements as "I can't live with a black," and "we shouldn't place the house in the position of being ridiculed."

MISS EDGERTON, the daughter of a retired Army sergeant and Japanese mother, said she had not expected her race to play any part during rush week.

"I don't think of things in terms of black and white," she said. "If someone wants to sit down and talk to me, I want them to be talking to me because I'm me.

"In the back of my mind, I was aware that I was the only black (in rush) and I kind of wondered how far I'd get. When I was cut, I thought about that (being black), but I thought, 'No that can't be true.' "

But, according to Miss Tollefson, it

"THE REASON WE didn't invite Debbie back was because she was black," the sorority member said. "Her recommendations were just fine. Her personality was just fine. Everyone who knew her said she was

As a result of her letter, Miss Tollefson said she was given the silent treatment by some sorority members and was called before her house's disciplinary board for breaching her oath of silence. She also was put on temporary probation.

But, Miss Tollefson said she does not regret writing the letter.

"I can't believe that this is 1977 and this is still going on," she said, "I wanted to see something happen because it (discrimination) is not right. It's not morally right. It's not legally

Regner backs stiffer code

A three-bill package tightening the state's criminal code is being sponsored by State Sen. David J. Regner, R-Mount Prospect.

Regner has introduced bills to provide a mandatory 20-year prison sentence for persons convicted of committing a felony with a firearm a second time. He also has asked for a new law to prohibit the possession of firearms in schools and another law to provide a mandatory 20-year prison sentence for persons convicted of selling illegal drugs.

He said the mandatory prison sentence bills are designed to eliminate the "slap on the wrist" attitude of some judges dealing with gun-related crimes and drug cases.

He noted the bill to ban the possession of firearms in schools would help to decrease violence in schools.

"The current law is vague," Regner said. Although it is illegal to possess a loaded firearm within the city limits, state law does not specifically prohibit the possession of firearms around school

Lonely job vital to city's life

by JOE FRANZ

They're isolated on islands for a week at a time, but never leave the City of Chicago.

They perform a vital function for millions of people, but the general public knows little about them and many don't even know they exist.

They are Chicago's crib keepers the men who live and work in those little houses barely visible off the shore of Lake Michigan. Although few in number, they play a key role in supplying water to Chicago and more than 70 suburban communities.

THE PRIMARY function of the crib keepers, who work one week on duty and one week off, is to keep the intake channels of the cribs free of ice, fish and garbage to ensure a continuous flow of water to the city's filtration plants.

"During the winter we check the intake channels every two hours to make sure they aren't making ice," said Raymond Perkins, a 20-year veteran of the cribs. "If they are, it's our job to remove it before it closes up the opening.

"The intakes have never frozen up since I've been out here and they won't," said Perkins, who is assigned to the Carter H. Harrison and William E. Dever cribs off Grand Avenue. "If they freeze there's only one group that gets the blame and that's the guys at the cribs."

When ice does begin forming at the intake points, he said, the crib keepers use long poles to break it loose. If that fails they use dynamite.

"Usually the ice can be broken up with poles, but maybe two or three times a year we have to use dynamite," Perkins said. "We use onethird of a stick."

ALTHOUGH THE crib keepers have had their share of ice to contend with during this year's unusually cold winter, they said it hasn't been any worse than in other years.

Despite the long periods of time away from home, the isolation and the sometimes severe working conditions, the crib keepers at the Harrison and Dever cribs are content in their

"It's a good job, but you have to stay out here seven, eight, sometimes nine days at a time," Perkins said. "You have to take the good with the

Joseph Rago said he looks at the disadvantages as just part of the job. "It's a job that has to be done," he said. "If it's not done by me it would have to be done by someone else. The only thing is that when you're out here so long you're a week behind on everything."

THE CRIB keeper's living quarters consist of a kitchen, several bedrooms and an office. Although the quarters fights its way through ice, wind, snow are heated, they said certain rooms become quite chilly in the winter months because of the wind.

The cribs receive a visit three times a week from the James. J. Versluis. the city's 83-foot tugboat. The boat and sleet and all types of inclement weather to bring food and supplies to Every now and then, however, high winds or other adverse conditions prevent the mighty boat from reaching its destination.

"It's bad when that happens on the day you're supposed to go home," Perkins said. "You're built up to go home, you've got things to do and places to go and then the wind shifts and the boat can't get out here. It's a real let down."

PETER MILKE, who is on the shift with Rago and Perkins, said in 1961 he was at the Wilson Avenue crib for 21/2 weeks straight because extra help was needed to remove ice from the intake points.

When the crib keepers aren't chopping ice or removing fish or garbage from the intakes, they are loggin the level of the lake, maintaining equipment, washing windows or cleaning their quarters.

In their free time they watch television, listen to the radio, read and on occasion fish from the side of the crib, which sits firmly on the lake bottom in 32 to 35 feet of water.

our spare time as other people," Rago said. "It's no different out here, except that we're more limited in what we can do."

PERKINS SAID he believes the key to the job is the ability to get along with co-workers.

"We make it the best we can't" he said. "I think 85 per cent of the job is getting along with the people you work with. If you can't get along with them you might as well forget it."

Chicago has six water intake cribs, four of which are manned around the clock, seven days a week, by threeman crews. One of the cribs is on standby status and another is no long-

The cribs are two to three miles offshore and supply water to the city's central and south water filtration plants through large supply tunnels 50 to 200 feet below the surface of the

THOMAS WARD, the city's head crib keeper, said although the filtration plants are equipped with intakes, generally the water near the cribs is cleaner than that near shore.

"The filtration plants have the capability of purifying any water, but the water from the cribs usually is a lot more economical to process than the water near shore."

Ward, who visits the cribs three times a week summed up the job of crib keeper this way. "It's pretty much like home living as long as the heating system and everything out "We do many of the same things in there works properly. Working conditions can be tough in severe weather.

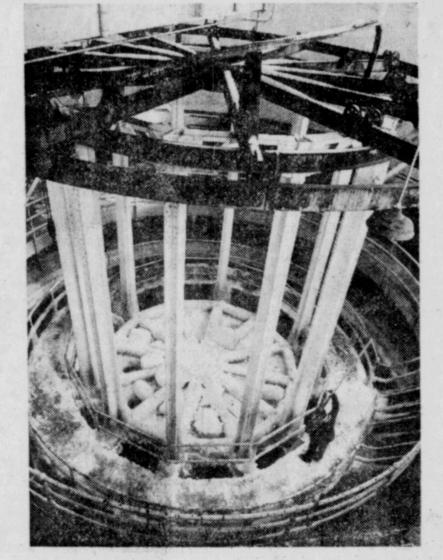

> "If a fellow can tolerate this kind of life while he's out here for a week at a time it can be wonderful," he said. "Because after he works a week he has a whole week off which is something very few people have."
